HOW PACIFIC CIRCLE DRAWS CLOSER TO JAPAN. Gradually the great Pacific battle circle draws closer to Japan, swinging in an arc from the Aleutians to the north, through the Marshalls to New Guinea and Rabaul and toward the Philippines. When the Marshalls were invaded the arc of heavy action in the South Pacific was completed and, as the map shows, Truk and Wake are on the rim of the next circle. Experts foresee a direct thrust at Truk from Kwajalein (1), in inset with (2) Wotje and (3) Eniwetok, two Jap bases that are taking a severe pounding.

EXPECT TAFT TO HEAD GROUP

Senator Probable Leader of Ohio Delegation at G.O.P. Convention.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 4 — Political observers forecast today selection of U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft to head the Ohio delegation to the Republican national convention at which Gov. Bricker will be a candidate for the presidential nomination.

Taft, one of six delegates-at-large named yesterday by the state party committee, months ago promised Bricker his support in the national race.

Others of the Big Six slate, together with their alternates, who received committee indorsement were U. S. Senator Harold K. Burton, National Committeewoman Mrs. Katharine Kennedy Brown of Dayton, former Gov. Myers Y. Cooper, State Chairman Ed D. Schorr and John W. Galbreath, director of Gov. Bricker's presidential campaign.

Alternates chosen were State Treasurer Don H. Ebright, Atty. Donald W. Hornbeck of Cleveland, Mrs. Elizabeth M. Linard of Bellaire, Lawrence O. Payne of Cleveland, member of the state pardon and parole commission; assistant State Director of Agriculture Mrs Lottie M. Randolph of New Lexington, and George A. Straw of Columbus, director of industrial relations.

District committees will choose district delegates and alternates, all of whom will be pledged to Bricker as their first choice and to Louis H. Brush of Salem as second choice for president.

David Sears of Harpster, Wyandot county, was elected by the committee for the Eighth district

Only a Few Scattered Snipers Remain of Jap Island Garrison

By GEORGE E. JONES

Representing the Combined American Press (Distributed by The Associated Press)

NAMUR ISLAND, KWAJALEIN ATOLL, THE MARSHALLS, Feb. 3—(Delayed)—Scattered snipers and unseen enemy wounded remain on this shattered, stinking island, but the actual end of sustained combat came at 1 p. m. yesterday in a little corner near the northwest tip to Namur island as the Marines pressed in for the kill.

Organized enemy resistance was ended, and even the toughened, battle-hardened Marines were disgusted with the task of wiping out Japanese troops who hovered on the borderline of insanity as the result of the allied bombardment and the ensuing hopeless retreat across the island.

U. S. casualties have been very moderate.

Only a few score Japanese of the original force who garrisoned Namur and adjoining Roi island were left as Marine gunfire tightened about their defensive position, which probably was a command post.

It was a murderous bombardment, then an inevitable retreat in the face of superior Marine fire power. Light mobile artillery, flame throwers and bazookas thundered and rocked against the crumbling concrete pillboxes and then the Japanese were surrounded.

Few Try To Escape

Most remained in hiding, waiting the end. Only a few tried to break the encirclement, and they could not make it.

I was on this battlefield with Capt. Arthur Hanson, Washington, D. C., when the staccato chatter of machineguns and the resonant thumps of Marine mortars died away.

For more than four hours I had been dodging sniper bullets as I poked among the ruins, and the silence seemed unnatural.

In their two-day battle, the Japanese resorted to a few of their favorite tactics. During the night, some crawled back into wrecked pillboxes and had to be killed yesterday morning.

The most ambitious maneuver of this kind involved a half-dozen riflemen who sneaked into a dugout and harassed rear echelons until an unidentified sergeant walked inside alone with a Garand and killed them all.

The Marines brought ashore a large assortment of heavy and fancy weapons. The battle, how-

Mustering Out Bill Is Signed

Measure Provides Pay of $100 to $300 for U. S. Service Men.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb 4—President Roosevelt signed today legislation providing mustering-out pay of $100 to $300 for members of the armed services.

At the same time, he called for action on additional portions of his program to "ease the period of transition from military to civilian life."

Mr. Roosevelt mentioned specifically measures to let servicemen continue their education, to provide social security credits for the period of military service, and to set up machinery for unemployment allowances.

Mr. Roosevelt, in a statement, referred to the mustering-out pay bill as "a step in the comprehensive program that I recommended on July 28, 1943, and again on Oct. 27, 1943, and Nov. 23, 1943, for the special protection of the members of the armed forces."

"It will ease," he continued, the "period of transition from military to civilian life, by providing the funds immediately needed to enable our service men and women to look for jobs and resume their peace-time pursuits."

Other Provisions

As for other steps in his program, he said:

"We must make our plans now and take all necessary steps to see to it that there will be good jobs awaiting our returning service men and women. But we must anticipate that there may be unemployment during the period of reconversion and we must therefore establish now suitable machinery for the payment of reasonable unemployment allowances to those veterans who are unable to obtain jobs within a reasonable period after their discharges.

"Through the prompt enactment

Center St. Grocery Store Burglarized

Burglars looted the Clifford Reidenbaugh grocery at 333 West Center street of $20 last night, after breaking first into a store room at the rear and then through an intervening door into the grocery itself. Entrance to the rear room was made through a window on the west side, police were told.

The burglars helped themselves to currency and silver, but spurned a pile of pennies.

County's E Bond Sale Total Now 68 Per Cent of Quota

Marion county E bond sales yesterday amounted to $18,162.75, bringing the total to date up to $560,112.50 or a little more than 68 per cent of the $819,000 E quota in the Fourth War Loan.

While the total and percentage figure are growing daily, drive leaders weren't particularly happy today because they figured yesterday that the daily E bond sales must average around $27,000 during the remaining days of the campaign if Marion county is to reach its E bond goal. And without that goal they feel that the county's good showing in other departments of the drive will be largely spoiled.

Yesterday's E sales helped push the day's total bond business up to $21,905.75, giving the county a new grand total of all series of bonds of $3,108,424 or $270,424 more than the $2,838,000 goal.

"Buddy" Sale Progressing

The "Back Your Buddy with a Bond" drive in charge of the women's division at the Victory House continued full blast today, with this group shooting for sale of enough war bonds to place a blue star in front of every name on the county honor roll. Some women workers were calling on acquaintances throughout the city to help boost sales, while dozens of other sales were made at the Victory House. The purchase of a $25 bond is sufficient to entitle the buyer to honor some person from Marion county now in service.

Meanwhile, another phase of the drive was reaching its climax —the sale of tickets for the Air Service Command Varieties to be presented at the Palace theater Monday night by servicemen from Patterson Field. C. E. Cox, Rotary club chairman in charge of that club's sale of tickets, reported today that Wednesday's sales were up to expectations, and that lively interest was being taken in the event.

It was emphasized again today that there will be no bond-selling activities during the show. The only bond sales effort connected with the entire program is the sale of $50 war bonds, each of which entitles the purchaser to a free ticket to the show.

Tickets may be obtained from any Rotary club member, Marion banks or building and loan associations, the Victory House, the Palace theater and at banks in Caledonia, Prospect and LaRue. Some persons in factories and rural areas also have supplies of tickets.

Leaders today suggested that anyone who wants to be sure of a seat for the entertainment should not wait until the final

U. S. BOMBERS HIT NAZIS 7TH TIME IN 8 DAYS

Great Forces Cross Channel Today To Blast Targets in West Germany.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Feb 4—Great forces of American heavy bombers lashed out at Nazi Europe for the seventh time in eight days today, battering objectives in western Germany after RAF Mosquitos struck at the same area last night.

The preliminary announcement did not name the target, but it was obvious another cog in the Nazi war machine was blasted by a saturation of explosives such as the American giants have loosed over Frankfurt, Brunswick, Hannover and Wilhelmshaven in the massive daylight offensive which began last weekend.

American and allied fighters escorted the big bombers as they did yesterday when the attackers of Wilhelmshaven were given such airtight protection only four bombers failed to return.

RAF Intruder planes also contributed to the round-the-clock allied aerial offensive last night with forays over northern France. The Nazis, feebly striking back at the shattering blows from the west, staged a "pocket blitz" on London.

No Planes Lost

No planes were lost in the sweeps over western Germany and northern France in the wake of the 1,100-plane operation of the Americans against Wilhelmshaven yesterday. One enemy aircraft was shot down by the intruders, the air ministry announced. Minelayers also invaded enemy waters in last night's operations in which specific targets were not announced.

Striking in two waves for the first time since Jan. 21, the Germans sent about 70 planes in their attacks against London, but only about 20 reached the London area.

The first wave came in from the south about 9 p. m. and fanned out over three counties. Eight hours later a slightly larger force concentrated on the Thames estuary district, touched off a thunderous anti-aircraft barrage and dropped bombs haphazardly in some districts causing an undisclosed number of casualties.

Fire Bomb Attack

This second group scattered hundreds of incendiaries in a path across shops and streets in one London district and started several fires. All but one of these fires was extinguished by fireguards, however, before fire engines arrived.

British ground defenders shot down four enemy planes.

An allied communique last night said all operations yesterday, including afternoon attacks on the French invasion coast after the morning attack on Wilhelmshaven, had cost the allies four heavy bombers, nine fighters and two fighter bombers.

Enemy fighter interception was weak, but nine Nazi planes were knocked down as the Americans dumped perhaps 1,500 tons of bombs on the Wilhelmshaven shipbuilding and naval base.

LODGE QUITS SENATE FOR ARMY ACTION

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4—Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., resigned today as senator from Massachusetts in order to return to active service as an Army officer.

In a letter addressed to the senate's presiding officer and read by a clerk, the 41-year-old Lodge, who holds a reserve commission as a major, said he felt in view of impending "large scale ground fighting" and his age, he could best serve his country as "a combat soldier overseas."

Accordingly, he wrote: "I hereby resign from the United States senate."

Appointment of a successor rests in the hands of Republican Governor Leverett Saltonstall. Saltonstall himself has been mentioned as a likely appointee to the vacancy.

The Boston Post said today it had learned authoritatively Governor Saltonstall will resign his post, and that lieutenant governor Horace T. Cahill will step into the Chief Executive's position, and then immediately appoint Saltonstall to the senate.

President Roosevelt has ruled that officers who are members of congress should resign one or the other post.

Rommel in Italy To Direct Attack on Rome Beachhead

Germans Open Assault on Allied Troops Landing at Anzio; Cassino Battle Rages.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN ITALY, Feb 4—Marshal Erwin Rommel, master of 'don't get trapped' tactics, was reported back in Italy directing Nazi strategy today and allied headquarters disclosed the Germans have launched their expected big offensive against the Anzio landing head below Rome, supporting their assaults with terrific firepower and tank charges.

On the main Fifth army front Americans were fighting fiercely in the outskirts of Cassino fighting with tanks against Germans who had to be cleaned out of rubble-cushioned dugouts and cellars in methodical and bloody fashion.

The offensive aimed at driving the British and Americans back into the sea from their beachhead and the tough house-to-house resistance offered at Cassino appeared to be the twin parts of a German strategy to fight off the allied threat aimed at mapping a large part of the German 10th army.

On the Eighth army front there was vigorous patrolling and the British occupied Torricella, southwest of Orsogna and 20 miles inland, where the Germans withdrew from a considerable mountain wedge and left the allied line running almost straight from Casoli to Sant' Angelo.

The Germans, reinforced along the perimeter of the Anzio bridgehead, struck four times against the British and Americans who are reported to have poured more than six divisions ashore. The German air force, almost absent from Italian skies for several days, returned to support the thrusts.

Germans Repulsed

In each case, allied headquarters said, the Germans are repulsed with heavy losses and the allies improved their positions slightly.

The enemy opened his offensive with three successive thrusts north of Padiglione, eight miles northwest of Anzio. They also lunged out at the Americans west of Cisterna where the Americans had driven to the outskirts of that Appian Way town 14 miles northeast of Anzio.

(Padiglione is about six miles below Campoleone, farthest advance of the British who had approached to within 16 miles of Rome. Allied headquarters announcements that the German attack had been repulsed indicated, however, the British had not been thrown back that distance. The German attack may have been aimed at the British flank.)

Some of the fiercest fighting seen in the Mediterranean theater was taking place at Cassino where the Germans held on grimly in the face of furious American attacks and the storm of artillery shells. American patrols once penetrated toward the center of

RED CROSS CENTER AT NEW LOCATION

Production Work Transferred to 149 East Center St.

Headquarters for the Red Cross production center, which have been located at 504 South State street for more than two years, have been transferred to 149 East Center street in the room formerly occupied by the Postal Telegraph Co. The new telephone number is 2864.

As formerly the room will be headquarters for sewing and knitting, distribution and receipt of yarn, and articles for sewing. At present the women are filling 1,581 Navy kit bags for shipping the middle of the month. The production committee, headed by Mrs. J. T. McNamara, is asking that organizations having kit bags for making, fabric and return them to the production center not later than next Tuesday, Feb 10. The unit asks only a limited time for filling them, she explains, as they are to be shipped on Feb. 15.

On hand now is yarn for making of Navy caps, and a quota for other knitted articles is expected in the near future. Hours are from 1 to 4:30 p. m. each weekday. Serving with Mrs. McNamara on production, one of the most pressing services of the Red Cross, are Miss Mary Kull, vice chairman, Mrs. E. G. Seifert, knitting chairman, and Mrs. Paul Krouse, kit bag chairman.

House Broken Into, Stove Poker Taken

Orville E. Fox of 565 Blake avenue reported to police that someone ransacked his house last night but apparently took only one item—a stove poker.

He said he discovered what had happened when he returned home last night shortly before 10 o'clock, and that a checkup accounted for everything in the house except a three-foot poker.

NEARLY ALL OF LARGE ATOLL SEIZED BY U. S.

Operations Now Reach Mopping Up Stage for American Troops.

By The Associated Press

Japanese resistance crumbled on big, crescent-shaped Kwajalein atoll today under overwhelming pressure of American invasion troops fighting for a foothold in the strategic Marshall islands.

Imminent fall of the largest in the string of mid-Pacific bases was indicated by front-line reports on the five-day old offensive when Under Secretary Robert Patterson declared will "widen the cracks in the outer defense ring" of the Japanese empire.

The enemy already had forfeited more than half of the 50-odd keys forming the Kwajalein back door to the mandated islands. Casualties ran high for the Japanese, unexpectedly low for Americans.

U. S. Marines, following up on seizure of Roi islet with its valuable airstrip, captured adjoining Namur and four other coral keys to gain control of the atoll's northern end. Operations reached the mopping-up stage yesterday on Kwajalein islet at the southern tip, where army forces used tanks and field artillery to beat back the hard-hit enemy.

The navy said known Japanese dead on Kwajalein islet as of Wednesday night totaled 1,250 of an estimated garrison of 2,000 men. American casualties were announced as 27 dead, 9 missing and 190 wounded. In the Roi-Namur sector, 160 U. S. Marines were killed and 400 wounded.

Tokyo Makes Excuse

Radio Tokyo, in its first mention of the Marshalls action in 24 hours, asserted, "the Americans have to risk it in order not to nullify the costly adventure in the Gilberts." U. S. forces last November captured the islands 300 miles south of the present fighting at a cost of 3,700 casualties, but it provided air bases for pre-invasion assaults on the Marshalls.

As the United States moved the battle front closer to Tokyo, Admiral Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the Navy, told an American Legion dinner in Washington last night "we have still a long way to go" in the Pacific war.

"We must also remember that as we go on, the enemy's lines of communications grow ever shorter as ours grow ever longer. That the enemy defensive positions will be more thoroughly dug in and that we will need all the fighting power that we can muster to attain the victory."

General George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff, said the Marshalls campaign provided the Japanese with "an expert demonstration of the overwhelming air and sea power which is rapidly developing in the Pacific and the perfect teamwork of our landing parties."

The allied drive on Madang, big Japanese base on the northeast coast of New Guinea, was heightened by a 77-ton bombing of Alexishafen and the dropping of an additional 30 tons of explosives on other enemy positions.

Allied patrols were disclosed to

REDS ADVANCE ON LONG FRONT

Russians on March from Finland to Shores of Black Sea.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Feb. 4 — Russia's mighty military machine surged forward with new vigor along a flaming 1,200-mile-long front today, with new power drives in the Ukraine and old Poland supplementing a thrust into German-held Estonia.

From the Gulf of Finland to the shores of the Black sea Red army troops were on the march. In the north Gen. Leonid A. Govorov's Leningrad army was converging on strategic Narva, five miles inside the Estonian border. Deep in the Ukraine a twin Soviet offensive had trapped 10 Nazi divisions—between 120,000 and 150,000 men. And Berlin announced evacuation of Rovno and Lutsk (Luck) in an unexpected 50-mile axis withdrawal on the Polish front.

10 Divisions In Trap

The 10 German divisions squeezed into a circular pocket 45 miles below the middle Dnieper river by a five-day-old 100-mile twin drive by the first and second Ukraine armies, face annihilation, front dispatches reported. The Russian communique said nearly 10,000 Nazis already had been killed trying to break through the ring of steel drawn around them by Gen. Nikolai Vatutin and Gen. Ivan S. Konev.

More than 300 towns and villages, including the rail center of Smela, were captured in pincer offensive, which closed on the Germans along the Zvenigorodka-Shpola line southeast of Kiev.

A dispatch to Izvestia said the situation of the trapped Germans could be gauged from some of

First Reports Show American Casualties Low at Marshalls

By The Associated Press

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, Feb. 4—Fighting men, bombs and guns, pouring ashore to annihilate the dwindling forces of Japanese defenders, appeared today to be on the verge of conquering all Kwajalein, largest atoll in the Marshalls and core of that enemy defense system.

As the momentous invasion moved through its fifth day, preliminary reports told of amazingly light American losses during the achievement of a strong entering wedge into mid-Pacific positions Japan has held for 25 years.

Rear Adm. Raymond K. Turner, commander of amphibious operations — as he was last November during the bloody investment of the Gilberts—said our assault losses were far under what had been expected.

U. S. Seventh division reinforcements and mechanized equipment in great force moved against tottering Japanese resistance at the south end of the atoll where 1,250 of an estimated garrison of 2,000 had been wiped out by Wednesday night.

First Casualty Report

American casualties were placed at 27 dead, nine missing and 130 wounded.

The north end of the Atoll, with the airdrome at Roi and the repair and dispersal base of Namur were less than 100 killed and 400 wounded.

(It seemed unlikely total Marine losses would be anything comparable with the casualties of approximately 3,000 suffered in capturing the air base of Tarawa in the Gilberts.)

The bulk of Kwajalein's more than 32 islets now are in American hands.

One Stronghold Remains

Only remaining opposition of consequences appeared to be at the southern end of Kwajalein island, where an airfield and a deep anchorage are prizes.

The surprisingly light losses among the invaders were accounted for in large part by the intensive preparatory naval and air assaults by which concrete and steel defenses were ripped open.

Last night, Admiral Nimitz announced that the overall objective of the invasion, the entire system of more than 32 Marshall bases spreading over an 800-mile square ocean area, continues to feel the neutralizing power of American bombers.

The announcement, covering raids Tuesday and Wednesday, on Mili, Wotje and Maloelap, extended the offensive to two atolls never previously mentioned as targets, Rongelap, northwest of Kwajalein, and Namu southeast of Kwajalein.

FORMER MARION SOLDIER KILLED

Staff Sgt. E. Paul Mason Dies in Raid Over Germany.

Staff Sgt. E. Paul Mason, 20, son of Mr and Mrs. Eldie Mason of Pierceton, Ind., former residents of Marion, previously listed as missing in action, was killed in action on Nov. 3, last year, in the European war area, a telegram received by the family from the war department last Friday, states. Word of his death was received by relatives here today.

The telegram followed a letter received from the war department on Dec. 22, telling that the plane, a Flying Fortress, was badly damaged by anti-aircraft fire and was last seen going into a slow spin over the North sea. One chute was seen to leave the plane, the letter stated.

Word of his death was received by the war department from the German government through the International Red Cross.

According to information received by the war department the Fortress was in action over Wilhelmshaven, Germany. At that time Sgt. Mason, a ball turret gunner, was believed to have been participating in his sixth mission over enemy territory. In a letter written on Nov. 2 to his parents he stated he had been awarded the air medal for missions completed.

Sgt. Mason was born in Marion and attended the grade and high school here, graduating in June, 1942, from Harding High school. His parents moved to Fort Wayne, Ind., the following July and he enlisted in the Army air force at Fort Wayne, Ind., on Aug. 10, the same year. At Harding he was a member of the band and took part in the high school plays. For two months after graduation from high school and up to the time of his enlistment he was employed as a call boy by the Erie railroad here.

He graduated from armorer's school at Denver, Colo., in November 1942 and from gunner's school at Las Vegas, Nev., in February 1943.

Surviving are the parents, Eldie and Flossie Bish Mason, natives of Indiana, and a brother, Robert S Mason of 885 Woodrow avenue.

Bricker To Address Ohio Newsmen Today

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 4—Some 300 Ohio newspaper men and women studied wartime publishing and printing problems today before hearing Gov. Bricker deliver an address tonight on "the growth of government control of the press and radio," which Republican spokesmen said would be a major speech for the presidential nomination.

Three groups, the Ohio Newspaper association, the Buckeye Press association and the Select list of Ohio Daily Newspapers, were here for their annual meetings.

Allies Draw Net Tighter Around Hitlers Domains

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Hitler's world is shrinking so dangerously that the time isn't far distant when he no longer will be able to find a place in which to hide from the vengeance which is closing in on him.

The Red armies—striking fiercely and unceasingly in order to make every hour count before spring arrives to turn the steppes into seas of glue-like mud—have placed the German front in fresh jeopardy in three sectors:

1. Most sensational is the operation in the far south, within the Dnieper bend, where two Red armies have pinched off the famous Smela salient and trapped ten Nazi divisions—probably more than 100,000 men. It's a great feat of generalship and valor. Fierce fighting continues as the surrounding Hitlerites battle to escape, and Moscow reports that 10,000 already have been slain. That's what the Russian front means these days—annihilation.

2. In the south-central zone the Muscovites have continued their thrust into pre-war Poland, threatening a disastrous severance of the Nazi line. The Germans say they've abandoned the important railway cities of Lutsk and Rovno. If that's true, it brings the Reds still closer to the great railway junction of Lemberg (Lwow) which lies on Hitler's sole remaining railway communication with Odessa and his big army in the Dnieper bend.

3. On the northern end of the line the Russians have driven still further into Estonia and are menacing the strategic city of Narva, which Berlin says is being evacuated. Thus the German left flank is being swung back, and the Red advance casts its shadow clear asross the Baltic states.

War Drama Unfolds

All three operations may be expected to produce far-reaching results, but I invite your attention specially to the Dnieper bend battle. It looks very much as though here we are approaching a denouement of one of the great dramas of the entire war. And we have not only drama but military importance so great that many experts figure this as one of the decisive engagements of the European conflict.

Probably you often have wondered why Field Marshal Von Mannstein has persisted so doggedly in hanging onto that great bulge along the lower Dniester. So have the military experts. The tip of that sharp salient is some 400 miles from the apex of the Red advance into Poland, far to the west. There hasn't been a day for months when Von Mannstein wasn't in danger of being trapped in that vast bend—and within it has perhaps half a million men.

I ventured the view in this column some weeks ago that the Nazi commander probably was bent on protecting the Bessarabian gateway to the Balkans. Veritas, the sound British commentator, is among those leaning to that view, although characterizing Von Mannstein's campaign as one of the enigmas of the war, which it certainly is.

Opening Into Balkans

As this column previously has pointed out, should Von Mannstein's Dnieper bend force be pocketed or compelled to retreat into the Balkans, it most certainly would precipitate a political and military upheaval on that peninsula, thereby not only jeopardizing Hitler's remaining Russian front but making an opening for the allies to get at Germany through the Balkans.

So Von Mannstein continues to hold, likely against his better military judgment, because he is working under orders of the fuehrer who feels the necessity of safeguarding the Balkans even at the possible cost of half a million men. Every day increases the marshal's danger. The pinching off the Smela salient, while a great triumph, is only an incident in this greater conflict of the Dnieper bend.

Tour Starts Today

While local plans for the show were pushed today, The Associated Press reported from Dayton that the Air Service Command Varieties troupe, most of the cast veterans of "This Is the Army," were to start on a war bond tour tonight by appearing at Hamilton, O. After coming here Monday, the show will move on to Springfield Feb. 9, Middletown Feb. 11 and Lorain Feb. 15. Branch chief for the production is Capt. Joseph F. Goetz, formerly associated with RKO Midwest at Cincinnati. Head of the entertainment is Capt. Clay A. Rompeau, former Cincinnati businessman. Music for the show will be provided by the Patterson Field Flying Band.

In Burma, American and RAF fliers ranged over the waterways of the Mayu peninsula, hitting five large troop-carrying sampans, and smashed at Irrawaddy river bridges in the south. American-trained Chinese troops hunted down Japanese in the jungle north and west of captured Taihpaga in northern Burma.

Dutch newspaper in London published new details of Japanese atrocities perpetrated against allied prisoners. The Tokyo radio quoted Kumaichi Yamamoto, vice minister for occupied areas in Asia, as saying Japanese treatment of allied nationals interned in China was "too lenient in comparison to the treatment given by the enemy nations."

KANSAS CITY OVER TOP

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 4—Two manuscripts hand-written by Dr. Albert Einstein were "sold" for $11,500,000 in war bonds in a rally last night. Kansas City thereupon claimed the distinction of being the first city in its population class to exceed its quota in the fourth war bond campaign.

KILLED BY HIT-SKIP

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, O., Feb. 4—James H. Ellinger, 68, of Columbus, was killed early this morning by a hit-skip driver on U. S. route 40 near Brownsville, 15 miles southeast of here, State Highway Patrolman R. F. Shaw reported. He was an employe of the State hospital at Columbus, Shaw said.

There is a "dry monsoon" as well as a "wet monsoon," in the Orient, and the one is likely to be just as dry as the other is wet.

LONG ILLNESS FATAL TO JOHN D. SMITH

Funeral of Former Mail Carrier Set for Saturday.

John D. Smith, 82, died in the Marion County home at 11:30 a. m. yesterday following an illness of 10 months. He was a former Marion county mail carrier, having carried mail from Caledonia to Claridon before the rural free delivery system was put into effect by the government.

Born Nov. 22, 1855 in Morrow county, he was a son of John D. Smith and Rosana Rarrick Smith, natives of Pennsylvania.

Survivors are a half-sister, Mrs. Esther Belt of Marion and a half-brother, Fay Smith of Montana.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday at 1:30 p. m. in the Scnaffner-Denzer funeral home on East Center street by Rev. R. W. Faulkner of Calvary Evangelical church. Burial will be at Claridon. Friends may call at the funeral home.

FOOD PROGRAM IS TEXAS SHOW

Lone Star Men Hold Top Places in Federal Agriculture Department.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 — The government's wartime food program became pretty much a Texas show today as the administration made another shift in top-ranking agriculture department personnel in preparation for its biggest 1944 production effort.

The change was not without political implications. Paul H. Appleby, right-hand-man of Vice President Wallace when Wallace was secretary of agriculture, was replaced as undersecretary of agriculture by Grover B. Hill, Texas cattleman and close personal friend of War Food Administrator Marvin Jones.

Appleby takes a new post as assistant director of the budget.

Texans now hold four of the five important offices in the agriculture department. Besides Jones, long a congressman from Texas, and Hill, other Texans in key positions are Ashley Sellers, director of the WFA's office of price, and Wilson Cowen, assistant food administrator.

Claude R. Wickard, head of the department, is an Indiana farmer, but under the present setup he has little part in determining food production and distribution policies.

Hill, who had held the office of assistant secretary of agriculture, has been and will continue to serve as Jones' first assistant and right-hand-man.

Under the present WFA setup, virtually all import and decisions relating to food production and distribution are made by either Jones, Hill, Sellers, or Cowen.

The Appleby-Hill shift is the latest of a number of administration moves having some political significance. Since Jones was named food administrator last summer, observers have noted a change toward more conservative farm policies. There have been fewer regulations, and the WFA has stressed cooperation with the food industry.

Changes in WFA personnel under Jones have been of the same patterns.

Changes in policies and personnel under Jones appear to belie the statement often made in political circles that the administration would make little effort to win the midwestern farm vote back to the Democratic party this year. In the last three elections, there was a decided farm-vote swing to the Republicans. Both Democrats and Republicans attributed this to farmer shift to conservatism.

Sharp Battles Break Out Along Yugoslav Front

LONDON, Feb. 4—Sharp battles are mushrooming all along Yugoslavia's multitude of fighting fronts, Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) announced today as the Germans were reported massing reinforcements from Bulgaria and Greece for their seventh and supreme effort to smash partisan resistance in that war-torn country.

The Yugoslav partisans scored decisive triumphs on two fronts, according to Tito's war bulletin broadcast by the Free Yugoslav radio, routing the German Prince Eugen division in Herzegovina and smashing Nazi and Chetnik attacks in Montenegro.

ARTHUR I. ELLIOTT STRICKEN SUDDENLY

Dies of Heart Attack at Marion Factory.

Arthur Isaac "Slocum" Elliott, 67, died suddenly yesterday afternoon while at work at the American Malleable Castings Co. where he was employed as a molder. He suffered a heart attack. Mr. Elliott was taken to City hospital by the M. H. Gunder and Sons ambulance, but was pronounced dead on arrival.

He was born Nov. 19, 1876, in Logan county to Abner K. and Harriet Ann Rochelle Elliott. On Dec. 23, 1897, he married Maude Berry, who survives. He had lived in Marion 40 years, coming here from Union county. He was a member of International Molders' Union, AFL No. 386.

Children surviving are Mrs John W. Richards of 567 Avondale avenue, Mrs. John Kerns of 549 Toledo avenue, Eugene Elliott of 627 Blake avenue, Hector H. Elliott and Miss Maxine E. Elliott, at home. A brother and sister, Mrs. Inda Kelty and Benjamin A. Elliott of Clatskanie, Ore., also survive. There are five grandchildren. A grandson, Earl W. Richards, is serving with the armed forces.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday at 2 p. m. at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Richards of Avondale avenue, and at 2:30 at the First Wesleyan Methodist tabernacle, Rev. D. E. Howard pastor of the tabernacle, will officiate and burial will be in Marion cemetery. Friends may call at the M. H. Gunder and Sons funeral home after 7:30 tonight until Sunday, when the body will be removed to the Richards residence.

MUSTER OUT

of this program of veteran benefits, we shall furnish those who have served their country in the armed services with the sense of security which they have richly earned and which is no necessary to a high fighting morale."

A compromise between senate and house legislation, the mustering-out pay law limits the maximum sum of $300 to service men and women who have served overseas or in Alaska.

Payments of $200 are provided for those serving 60 days or more in the United States and $100 for those serving less than 60 days in this country.

All receiving no more than $200 a month base pay are eligible for mustering-out benefits.

This allows payments to captains of less than 17 years service, and excludes majors and higher officers from benefits.

Those eligible to the $300 will receive $100 at the time of final discharge and $100 a month for the succeeding two months. The $200 payment will be made in two equal monthly installments. Those entitled to $100 will get the full amount upon final discharge.

Those already discharged have two years within which to make applications. The War and Navy departments are allowed one month to make such payments after approval of applications.

Specially denied benefits are those eligible to retirement pay, those discharged to take civilian jobs, those dishonorably discharged and the following:

1. Any member of the armed force whose total period of service has been a student detailed for training under the army specialized training program, the army air forces college training program and other similar Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard programs.

2. Any member of the armed forces for any active service performed prior to the date of his discharge for the purpose of entering the naval, military or coast guard academies or whose sole service has been as a cadet at one of those academies.

Senator Johnson (D-Colo) estimated cost of the program at $3,000,000,000. He said total discharges have been running between 70,000 and 75,000 monthly. There have been estimates that $250,000,000 will be needed for immediate cases.

Relatives of Lost Port Clinton Unit Form Bataan Clan

By The Associated Press

PORT CLINTON, O., Feb. 4 — Relatives of 32 men lost in the Japanese at Bataan or the Philippines united on the home war leaders today to reinforcements to be sent to Gen. Douglas MacArthur "so our boys may be freed from the torture of Japanese imprisonment."

The Port Clinton Bataan clan, composed of families of the 32 members of Co. C, 192nd tank battalion, lost at Bataan, telegraphed a protest to President Roosevelt and Secretary of War Stimson that "unbelievable" Japanese atrocity stories for 21 months was a "great error."

The telegram, signed by Mrs. Agnes Belser, clan president, said in part:

"We, the members of the Bataan clan at Port Clinton, Ohio, protest the withholding of the information concerning Japanese atrocities until this late date.

"It has been a grievous error to wait for a 'psychological moment' before unleashing the screw on the Axis partnership. We gave our boys, but we have a right to know what has happening to them men, not 21 months later.

"We are tired of red tape and promises. We want action."

AKRON MAN KILLED

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., Feb. 4—The body of a 66-year-old man identified by Detective Stephen McGowan as Charles E. Wolfe, a former Akron wholesale grocery employe, was found at the rear of a downtown garage today, the second slaying in the area in three weeks. Two war workers called police when the victim, apparently hit over the head with a blunt instrument was found at the rear door of a downtown garage, the detecive said.

BALLOT

tribute some 12,000,000 post card applications for 1944 state absentee ballots to service men and women throughout the world, without waiting for congress finally to settle the issue.

The bill passed by the house was a modified version of one approved by the senate several weeks ago but which now must be reconsidered by that body in view of house changes.

Today the senate moved toward a show down on a proposal sponsored by coalition of Republican and southern Democrats, under which use of a federal ballot in either this country or overseas would be denied, except to citizen soldiers of states which failed to make provision for absentee voting by June.

Majority Leader Barkley (Ky) said he had sufficient votes to turn back the coalition plan, but Senator Taft (R-Ohio), spokesman for opponents of the federal ballot said: "We have a majority of votes and we already have established a beachhead for our proposal."

Harding Area Scouts Ready To Help Celebrate Anniversary

Boy Scout Week Events To Celebrate 34th Year of Scouting Movement in America.

Boy Scouts, Cubs and Scout leaders of Marion will join with Scouts throughout the country in celebrating the thirty-fourth anniversary of Scouting in America during National Boy Scout week which will begin Tuesday and run Monday, Feb. 14. Displays of Scout work in windows of downtown stores, a Scout birthday party at the Ohio theater to which all Scouts and Cubs will be admitted at a special price and attendance at church on Sunday will feature local observance of the event.

Hugh Hay, Harding Area executive, will speak to members of Marion Kiwanis club Tuesday noon. Mr. Hay will have as his theme "Youth on Parade."

Theater Party

Climax of the week for many Marion Scouts will be the birthday party Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Ohio theater. Scouts will wear their uniforms to the party.

On Sunday, Feb. 13, leaders Scouts and Cubs will attend church services in uniform. They will also don Scout garb through the week in celebration when it is possible. Sunday has been designated as Boy Scout Sunday and many ministers have planned special messages for Scouts.

Investiture services will bring new members into troops for the first time this week. Impressive ceremonies with the lighting of 12 candles symbolizing the 12 Scout laws will feature the programs. A Court of Honor for Scouts of Marion district will be held Wednesday at 7 p. m. at the American Legion Dugout on South High street. Ceremonies will center around presentation of awards to Scouts who have made advancement in Scouting work.

Special Events Set

Victory points including Scouts and former Scouts now in the armed services are being arranged by several troops in the Harding Area. Scouts of Troop No. 5 sponsored by the American Legion of which Dr. A. J. Wagner is Scout master and troops at LaRue and Iberia are making arrangements to hold special recognition services. The LaRue Scout plans to conduct a special program on Feb. 14, the last day of Boy Scout week.

Store windows in the downtown area will display handicraft, merit badge projects and other phases of the year-round scouting program carried out in Marion district. Winners displays will be judged by a committee from the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Gather Waste Paper

Scouts and Cubs in the Harding Area council have already collected 170 tons of paper in their second waste paper salvage drive, it was announced by Mr. Hay. Two years ago Boy Scouts of America collected 122,000 tons of paper, nearly one fourth of the amount collected in a national drive.

Scouts are acting as dispatch bearers, carrying government information on the war effort to members of the community.

A letter from Elmer Davis, director of the OWI, commended Scouts in their contribution to service in the armed forces and the home front. Last year Scouts helped the food for victory program by contributing their time to food production.

BISHOP ESTABLISHES RURAL LIFE PROJECT

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Feb. 4 — The Most Rev. John T. McNicholas, archbishop of Cincinnati, yesterday announced establishment of a "rural life community" within the parish of Queen of Peace church at Milville, near Oxford, O.

The project, he said, was the first of its kind to be sponsored by the American rural parish.

Close to the industrial centers of Hamilton and Cincinnati, the 140-acre tract will be divided into acre and half-acre plots—small farms for those who seek to put "one foot in industry and the other on the soil."

The Catholic Telegraph Register, diocesan newspaper, described the project as one to establish "a thoroughly Catholic community" and said even roads of the community would be given names of religious significance.

Rev. Joseph Urbain, administrator of Queen of Peace parish and director of the Catholic rural life bureau which is directing establishment of the project, said the community was not intended for suburbanites who would have no interest in the soil beyond the planting of a small victory garden. "This would not constitute the kind of subsistence farming that will make a family economically independent * * *" Father Urbain said, adding that several sites have already been acquired by prospective home owners.

Committee Reports Miners' Travel Time

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4—A special committee reported to President Roosevelt yesterday that preliminary figures showed soft coal miners averaged 53.29 minutes underground travel time daily.

The committee, headed by Morris L. Cooke, asked for several weeks' delay in submitting a final report and said that the final figure probably would be somewhat lower. It said 80 per cent of the bituminous coal mined underground.

Cooke said the committee had found the national average travel time per day.

Two Ohioans Killed in Crash of Bombers

By The Associated Press

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 4—Thirteen army fliers including two Ohioans died in a collision of two twin-engine medium bombers 75 miles north of here near Garland City, Ark., yesterday. All were from nearby Barksdale Field. There were no survivors.

Col. William B. Wright, Barksdale commander, said eight bodies had been identified. The Ohioans killed were 2nd Lt. Charles H. Tarr, 24, pilot, son of Howard S. Tarr of Mt. Vernon; and 2nd Lt. William L. Wilson, 22, bombardier-navigator, nephew of Lee L. Woos of Martins Ferry.

Sandusky Plant Given Wage Increase Penalty

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Feb. 4—A penalty of $5,000 against the Klotz Machine Co. of Sandusky, O., for increasing wages of 10 employes without war labor board approval was announced today by O. W. L. Coffin, fifth regional WLB vice-chairman and enforcement division head.

Coffin said the assessment would be disallowed by the government as a deductible operating cost for income tax purposes or in applying any other government law or regulation.

Singer Known In Marion with Army Show Here Monday

Pvt. Paul Arnold, above, already known to Marion music lovers through appearances here in past years as soloist at concert events and as a radio singer heard over station WLW, will be among the soldiers who will assemble on the Palace theater stage Monday when the Air Service Command Varieties come to Marion for a war bond benefit. Pvt. Arnold's baritone voice will be heard in a special arrangement of "Begin the Beguine" in one of the top features of the show. He is one of two men in the cast who were not in "This Is the Army." Admission to the show is free to persons who purchase a $50 war bond. Shows Monday will be at 6:30 and 9:15 p. m.

SICKNESS BENEFITS PROGRAM OFFERED

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 4—Sickness benefits for Ohio workers similar to unemployment payments may be suggested soon for legislative action if a study by the advisory council of the state bureau of unemployment compensation finds them feasible.

Dr. Edison L. Bowers, council vice president and head of Ohio State university's economics department, said today such a program was under consideration by the BUC group and data would be submitted to Gov. Bricker for possible recommendations to the general assembly.

Although none of the council's seven members has stated formally whether he favors the program, Dr. Bowers reported Rhode Island already had worker sickness insurance, a special commission in another state had indorsed it, and legislation was pending in congress to establish a federal law.

Modification of the unemployment compensation insurance act by the legislature would be necessary before Ohio could inaugurate sickness benefits, Dr. Bowers said.

BUC officials said any sickness insurance program for Ohio probably would be similar to that in Rhode Island. Eligible workers off their jobs because of illness would be entitled after two weeks to maximum payments of $16 weekly for 18 weeks. A physician's statement of the patient's condition would be required.

Workers receiving sickness benefits, however, would not be eligible for jobless benefits at the same time.

The council's next meeting is Feb. 10 but Dr. Bowers said data on the sickness insurance program was incomplete because of manpower difficulties encountered in research and probably would not be ready for action for some time.

Girl's Condition Critical After Attack by Cousin

By The Associated Press

RAVENNA, O., Feb. 4—Miss Hester Sinkhorn, 22, of Akron, was in critical condition in Robinson Memorial hospital today after an assault which authorities said was committed by her cousin, a 35-year-old Akron rubber worker.

Prosecutor Theodore Tilden and Sheriff Robert L. Fitzgerald reported Melvin Sinkhorn had signed a statement admitting he shattered a wine bottle on her head during an argument on a Rootstown township road near here yesterday.

They quoted Sinkhorn as saying the argument started over his cousin keeping company with someone else the previous night. He pleaded guilty to charges of assault with intent to kill.

NAZI THREAT GIVEN POPE

See Warning as Veiled Threat Germans Will Defend Rome.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Feb. 4—A thinly-veiled warning that the Germans intend to defend Rome step by step, whatever the destruction entailed, is reported to have been conveyed to Pope Pius XII by the Nazis, who apparently have been trying to persuade the Pontiff to come to Germany.

The Ankara radio said the warning had been handed the Pope by Baron Ernest Von Weizsaecker, German ambassador to the Vatican, in the form of a statement from Field Marshal Albert Kesselring declaring the ultimate fate of Rome necessary will be "subject to military considerations."

The Vatican radio, however, has made it plain the Pope has no intention of leaving Rome. In a broadcast recorded last night by the Associated Press the Vatican said:

"Pius XII, since the very beginning of the war, has refused to abandon his Rome, always wishing to be present and partake in all the moral and material sufferings of the world, bleeding from the great torture.

"The Pope has always wanted Rome to be in the front line of spiritual resurrection. He has given the most tangible proof of his profound pastoral charity during the raids on Rome, bringing to the stricken inhabitants words of faith and of resignation as well as material aid profuse with sovereign generosity."

Whether this broadcast was intended as a response to the purported message from Kesselring was not clear, but the tone of the statement seemed to confirm recurring reports the Germans have been trying to prevail upon the Pope to come to Germany.

German propagandists, fond of picturing Hitler as Europe's great bulwark against Communism, presumably would relish an opportunity to represent him to the world as defenders of the Pope's person.

Dispatches from Bern, meanwhile, quoted the newspaper La Suisse of Geneva as saying Vatican City is following closely the campaign of the Soviet press accusing it of Fascist leanings.

In reply to this accusation, La Suisse said, Vatican circles cite the fact that the Fascist press is continually attacking the Holy See on the grounds it opposes the new Fascist government of Benito Mussolini.

FIRST FURLOUGHED TROOPS TO RETURN

By The Associated Press

AN ALLIED BASE IN AUSTRALIA, Friday, Feb. 4—The first American troops will return to the United States next month under a new rotation plan which calls for home leave for Army personnel who have served long periods in the southwest Pacific.

But the plan will affect only a small percentage of forces in the southwest Pacific.

Army authorities said today the plan provides that a certain percentage—very small—of the entire strength in this theater may be sent home each month. Men who have 18 months or more of service will be given preference and those who have six months or more service in forward areas, such as New Guinea and at Darwin, Australia, will have highest priority.

A considerable number of men such as members of the 32nd and 41st infantry divisions, have been in Australia and New Guinea more than 18 months.

Army officers pointed out, however, that no chances will be taken of sending home such large numbers from individual units as to inactivate the units or impair their efficiency.

Piles Are Never 'Mild'
DANGER IN NEGLECT
No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.
Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formations without tendency to heal themselves, instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing, in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.
Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting, predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in the back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its rundown tired feeling, and general nervous irritability.
If, therefore, you are distressed by what you have regarded as only a "mild" case of piles, do not, by any means, allow that to be a reason for neglecting them.
Removal of piles is the only permanent relief—written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, requires no anaesthetic nor the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.
There is no undue exposure, and you will find that the dignity with which the examination is conducted will quickly make you lose any feeling of self consciousness.
Why not call and learn of this method? The examination is free.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

MUST SPEND MONEY

Editor of The Star: Pardon me asking you to publish my reply to the honorable Mr. Hecox in your paper, but when one sticks their neck out, they should have a collar to fit it and not make personal cracks unless they are one of their statements. I am very glad, sir, I was not born with a one track mind. That is why I said I vote either side. I vote for the man that favors you and me, the laboring man. But as you stated, "The boy's will is the wind's will." Well all I can say is fresh air is good for the brain. Try some. And it also has been said that if some peoples brains turned to TNT there would not be enough to blow their hat off.

But Mr. Hecox, if you can win this war without spending money and lots of it, Washington is looking for wise men like you. Did you ever stop to figure this is a world war. If some of our former presidents had not junked our Navy and cut our Army to a fist full of men F. D. R. would not have had to start from zero.

But today we have the biggest and finest Navy in the world, and we also have the finest and best dressed and best fed soldiers in the world. Can you fail to admit that is a good reason the dirty Jap and the lousey Nazi are not over here molesting your family and mine and degrading you and me to the dreadful things those poor souls are going through over there?

So I want to at least respect our leader now. Don't cry if you do have to put out a few pennies to help win the war. If you have and good ideas tell them to F.D.R. He has brains from your party and mine. Don't blame him for all the mistakes, just buy Bonds and don't worry.

Salvation Army Sets District Youth Rally for Saturday

MAJOR EDWARD CAREY

A program has been arranged and plans completed for a district youth rally to be held Saturday night at Calvary Evangelical church by the Salvation Army. Speaker will be Major Edward Carey, Young People's secretary, Eastern Territorial headquarters in New York City.

Young people of the city and in the district have been asked to join the corps for the meeting, which will open at 8 o'clock. In addition to Major Carey, guests on the program will include Major Harold A. Zealley, divisional commander and Mrs. Major Edward F. Gibson, divisional young people's secretary, of Cincinnati. Young people from Bucyrus, Findlay, Tiffin, Van Wert, Lancaster, Chillicothe, Springfield and Columbus are expected.

The meeting will open with congregational singing directed by Major Zealley, and prayer by Mrs. Major Gibson. The scripture will be read by Lauravale Hyland.

Greetings will be extended by Major H. L. Dowler, Rev. E. M. Hartsler, president of the Marion County Council of Churches and Dorothy Bagley, president of the Youth Fellowship. Music will include a chorus number, selections by a brass quartet from the Marion corps, the Springfield corps recital, a solo by Tom the Bucyrus corps, and Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Young who are conducting services at Calvary church. The benediction will be spoken by Captain Mary Nistewitz.

Prior to going to New York to take up his duties as Young People's secretary, Major Carey served in the same capacity for Western New York Division, and also as assistant Young People's secretary at Territorial headquarters in New York. He was appointed to his present position in 1940. His duties include the direction and supervision of all children's and youth activities, including camping for boys and girls, boys' clubs, young people's societies, musical instruction in bands and choruses, young people's camps and leadership training groups in 11 eastern states.

HAGERT GRANTED STAY

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 4—Warden Frank Henderson of the Ohio penitentiary reported Henry W. Hagert, 18-year-old Cleveland youth scheduled to die in the electric chair March 27, had been granted an indefinite stay by the court of appeals. Hagert was convicted of slaying two Cleveland children.

Railroad Brakeman Hurt at Upper Sandusky

By The Associated Press

UPPER SANDUSKY, O., Feb. 4—Floyd Littlejohn, 44, of Columbus, freight brakeman on the local on the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad, suffered a compound fracture of his left arm above the elbow, Wednesday when he was thrown from a switcher near the U. S. Commission Co.

Mr. Littlejohn was descending the ladder on a box car when steam prevented him from seeing the approaching engine. The engine struck the car suddenly and he was thrown to the ground.

Mr. Littlejohn was taken to the office of a local physician in the Brangman & Co. ambulance and was later taken to Grant hospital, Columbus.

Raymond Clapper Died To Get War Report from the Pacific

KILLED IN MARSHALLS. Raymond Clapper (above), Washington columnist and political commentator, lost his life in a plane accident while covering the invasion of the Marshall Islands. This picture was made Jan. 17 as he prepared copy aboard the plane of Vice Adm. A. W. Fitch, commander Aircraft, South Pacific. Clapper has personal acquaintances in Marion, where he served during the summer of 1920 covering Warren G. Harding's "front porch" campaign for the United Press. While here he lived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Eymon on Mt. Vernon avenue. (Associated Press Wirephoto).

By JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE ZIELKE
Associated Press Writers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 — We didn't know Raymond Clapper. But every day we read his column. In the Washington jungle where hatred, bias, prejudice and partisan thinking is the usual thick foliage his work was as a clear light.

We respected him in a number of ways. Even when we might feel differently from the things he said, we were sure he was calling his shots exactly and as truly as he saw them.

It was a wonderful thing to read Raymond Clapper day after day. He wrote and he fought for the things he thought were right. He was bitter against the people and things he thought were wrong.

But it was perhaps the greatest tribute to his memory that after word of his death reached Washington we asked all kinds of newspapermen what they thought of him and heard them say:

"He was a fine man. He was an honest man. He had no enemy in the newspaper business."

Column Nationally Famous

He made $100,000 a year. He had a wife and two children. He did for the Scripps-Howard Newspaper Alliance his daily column which was nationally famous.

Why then did he leave Washington for the South Pacific war? Why did he go up in the bomber that crashed him to his death in a lagoon in the Marshalls?

He could have stayed at home. He had seen what war is. He had covered part of the Mediterranean campaign. He had flown in a bomber on the first American pinpointing bombing of Rome.

Why risk his life once more in a bomber in the Marshalls? Maybe the column he wrote from San Francisco on New Year's day can explain some of it. He said then, just before his departure for the South Pacific:

"Some people in Washington feel that there is not sufficient awareness at home of how much our men are doing up the south Pacific) and in what a living hell they must sometimes do it, so somebody says why don't I go out and get a taste of it and so here I go, dragging these aging bones."

He was 51 and so he went. And he was killed, just as 15 other American correspondents had been killed or died abroad since the European war started.

Working at Their Jobs

Why did they die? For the same reason Raymond Clapper gave his life. They were trying to report the news.

They thought it was the honest thing to do—just as Raymond Clapper thought it was the honest thing to do to write his column as he sincerely thought it should be written—at first hand, telling the story as they saw it happen, close up, giving the feel of the thing, making it as true as words can make anything true for their countrymen back home the adventure called war and the stink and smell of death and what danger felt like and what it meant.

The men who go into the newspaper business are looking for experience close up and they want to taste it, as somebody told Clapper to taste it in the South Pacific.

All living, or much of it, becomes part of their experience and thus part of themselves, enriching them. Then they begin to learn that being enriched is selfish and lonely unless they can communicate some of it to others.

The war was something new and greater than any of the newspapermen who went to it had ever known or would know again.

They wanted to taste it. They wanted to tell what it was like. Clapper, like the others, tasted it. The taste was bitter for all of us.

Tribute Is Paid Clapper in Capital

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4—Gen. George C. Marshall and Undersecretary of War Robert Patterson paid tribute today to Raymond Clapper, newspaper columnist, who was killed in a plane crash in the Marshall Island operations in the central Pacific.

The chief of staff said Clapper "had seen much of the war on many fronts where he displayed the courage and adventurous spirit of a true soldier. I lament his loss."

Patterson said "the nation has lost one of its valuable observers in the tragic death of Raymond Clapper." His "death in the course of a combat operation indicated his willingness to accept any hazard in order to pursue his search for truth."

Sandusky Plant Given Wage Increase Penalty

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Feb. 4—A penalty of $5,000 against the Klotz Machine Co. of Sandusky, O., for increasing wages of 10 employes without war labor board approval was announced today by O. W. L. Coffin, fifth regional WLB vice-chairman and enforcement division head.

Coffin said the assessment would be disallowed by the government as a deductible operating cost for income tax purposes or in applying any other government law or regulation.

Singer Known In Marion with Army Show Here Monday

Pvt Paul Arnold, above, already known to Marion music lovers through appearances here in past years as soloist at concert events and as a radio singer heard over station WLW, will be among the soldiers who will assemble on the Palace theater stage Monday when the Air Service Command Varieties come to Marion for a war bond benefit. Pvt Arnold's baritone voice will be heard in a special arrangement of "Begin the Beguine" in one of the top features of the show. He is one of two men in the cast who were not in "This Is the Army." Admission to the show is free to persons who purchase a $50 war bond. Shows Monday will be at 6:30 and 9:15 p. m.

SICKNESS BENEFITS PROGRAM OFFERED

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 4—Sickness benefits for Ohio workers similar to unemployment payments may be suggested soon for legislative action if a study by the advisory council of the state bureau of unemployment compensation finds them feasible.

Dr. Edison L. Bowers, council vice president and head of Ohio State university's economics department, said today such a program was under consideration by the BUC group and data would be submitted to Gov. Bricker for possible recommendations to the general assembly.

Although none of the council's seven members has stated formally whether he favors the program, Dr. Bowers reported Rhode Island already had worker sickness insurance, a special commission in another state had indorsed it, and legislation was pending in congress to establish a federal law.

Modification of the unemployment compensation insurance act by the legislature would be necessary before Ohio could inaugurate sickness benefits, Dr. Bowers said.

BUC officials said any sickness insurance program for Ohio probably would be similar to that in Rhode Island. Eligible workers off their jobs because of illness would be entitled after two weeks to maximum payments of $16 weekly for 18 weeks. A physician's statement of the patient's condition would be required.

Workers receiving sickness benefits, however, would not be eligible for jobless benefits at the same time.

The council's next meeting is Feb. 10 but Dr. Bowers said data on the sickness insurance program was incomplete because of manpower difficulties encountered in research and probably would not be ready for action for some time.

Girl's Condition Critical After Attack by Cousin

By The Associated Press

RAVENNA, O., Feb. 4—Miss Hester Sinkhorn, 22, of Akron, was in critical condition in Robinson Memorial hospital today after an assault which authorities said was committed by her cousin, a 35-year-old Akron rubber worker.

Prosecutor Theodore Tilden and Sheriff Robert L. Fitzgerald reported Melvin Sinkhorn had signed a statement admitting he shattered a wine bottle on her head during an argument on a Rootstown township road near here yesterday.

They quoted Sinkhorn as saying the argument started over his cousin keeping company with someone else the previous night. He pleaded guilty to charges of assault with intent to kill.

NAZI THREAT GIVEN POPE

See Warning as Veiled Threat Germans Will Defend Rome.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Feb. 4—A thinly-veiled warning that the Germans intend to defend Rome step by step, whatever the destruction entailed, is reported to have been conveyed to Pope Pius XII by the Nazis, who apparently have been trying to persuade the Pontiff to come to Germany.

The Ankara radio said the warning had been handed the Pope by Baron Ernest Von Weizsaecker, German ambassador to the Vatican, in the form of a statement from Field Marshal Albert Kesselring declaring the ultimate fate of Rome necessary will be "subject to military considerations."

The Vatican radio, however, has made it plain the Pope has no intention of leaving Rome. In a broadcast recorded last night by the Associated Press the Vatican said:

"Pius XII, since the very beginning of the war, has refused to abandon his Rome, always wishing to be present and partake in all the moral and material sufferings of the world, bleeding from the great torture.

"The Pope has always wanted Rome to be in the front line of spiritual resurrection. He has given the most tangible proof of his profound pastoral charity during the raids on Rome, bringing to the stricken inhabitants words of faith and of resignation as well as material aid profuse with sovereign generosity."

Whether this broadcast was intended as a response to the purported message from Kesselring was not clear, but the tone of the statement seemed to confirm recurring reports the Germans have been trying to prevail upon the Pope to come to Germany.

German propagandists, fond of picturing Hitler as Europe's great bulwark against Communism, presumably would relish an opportunity to represent him to the world as defenders of the Pope's person.

Dispatches from Bern, meanwhile, quoted the newspaper La Suisse of Geneva as saying Vatican City is following closely the campaign of the Soviet press accusing it of Fascist leanings.

In reply to this accusation, La Suisse said, Vatican circles cite the fact that the Fascist press is continually attacking the Holy See on the grounds it opposes the new Fascist government of Benito Mussolini.

FIRST FURLOUGHED TROOPS TO RETURN

By The Associated Press

AN ALLIED BASE IN AUSTRALIA, Friday, Feb. 4—The first American troops will return to the United States next month under a new rotation plan which calls for home leave for Army personnel who have served long periods in the southwest Pacific.

But the plan will affect only a small percentage of forces in the southwest Pacific.

Army authorities said today the plan provides that a certain percentage—very small—of the entire strength in this theater may be sent home each month. Men who have 18 months or more of service will be given preference and those who have six months or more service in forward areas, such as New Guinea and at Darwin, Australia, will have highest priority.

A considerable number of men such as members of the 32nd and 41st infantry divisions, have been in Australia and New Guinea more than 18 months.

Army officers pointed out, however, that no chances will be taken of sending home such large numbers from individual units as to inactivate the units or impair their efficiency.

Piles Are Never 'Mild'

DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formations without tendency to heal themselves, instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting, predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in the back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its rundown tired feeling, and general nervous irritability.

If, therefore, you are distressed by what you have regarded as only a "mild" case of piles, do not, by any means, allow that to be a reason for neglecting them.

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief—written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, requires no anaesthetic nor the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

There is no undue exposure, and you will find that the dignity with which the examination is conducted will quickly make you lose any feeling of self consciousness.

Why not call and learn of this method? The examination is free.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

MUST SPEND MONEY

Editor of The Star: Please give a word you to publish my reply to the honorable Mr. Hecox in your paper, but when one sucks their nose out, they should have a collar to fit it and not make personal remarks unless they are one of their statements. I am very glad, sir, I was not born with a one track mind. That is why I said I vote either side. I vote for the man that favors you and me, the laboring man. But as you stated, "The boy's will is the wind's will." Well and I can say is fresh air is good for the brain. Try some. And it also has been said that if some peoples brains turned to TNT there would not be enough to blow their hat off.

But Mr. Hecox, if you can win the war without spending money and lots of it, Washington is looking for wise men like you. Did you ever stop to figure this is a world war. If some of our former presidents had not junked our Navy and cut our Army to a fret full of men F. D. R. would not have had to start from zero.

But today we have the biggest and finest Navy in the world, and we also have the finest and best dressed and best fed soldiers in the world. Can you fail to admit that is a good reason the dirty Jap and the lousey Nazi are not over here molesting your family and mine and degrading you and me to the dreadful things those poor souls are going through over there?

So I want to at least respect our leader now. Don't cry if you do have to put out a few pennies to help win the war. If you have and good ideas tell them to F.D.R. He has brains from your party and mine. Don't blame him for all the mistakes, just buy Bonds and don't worry.

Salvation Army Sets District Youth Rally for Saturday

MAJOR EDWARD CAREY

A program has been arranged and plans completed for a district youth rally to be held Saturday night at Calvary Evangelical church by the Salvation Army. Speaker will be Major Edward Carey, Young People's secretary, Eastern Territorial headquarters in New York City.

Young people of the city and in the district have been asked to join the corps for the meeting, which will open at 8 o'clock. In addition to Major Carey, guests on the program will include Major Harold A. Zealley, divisional commander and Mrs. Major Edward F. Gibson, divisional young people's secretary, of Cincinnati. Young people from Bucyrus, Findlay, Tiffin, Van Wert, Lancaster, Chillicothe, Springfield and Columbus are expected.

The meeting will be in charge of a combination of singers directed by Major Zealley, and prayer by Mrs. Major Gibson. The scripture will be read by Lauabelle Hyland.

Greetings will be extended by Mayor H. L. Dowler, Rev. E. M. Hertzler, president of the Marion County Council of Churches and Dorothy Bangley, president of the Youth Fellowship. Music will include a chorus number, selections by a brass quartet from the Marion corps, the Springfield corps sextet, a duet from the Bucyrus corps and Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Knapp who are conducting services at Calvary church. The benediction will be spoken by Captain Mary Nisiewicz.

Prior to going to New York to take up his duties as Young People's secretary, Major Carey served in the same capacity for Western New York Division, and also as assistant Young People's secretary at Territorial headquarters in New York. He was appointed to his present position in 1940. His duties include the direction and supervision of all children's and youth activities, including meeting for boys and girls, boys' clubs, young people's societies, musical instruction in bands and choruses, young people's camps and leadership training groups in 11 eastern states.

Raymond Clapper Died To Get War Report from the Pacific

KILLED IN MARSHALLS. Raymond Clapper (above), Washington columnist and political commentator, lost his life in a plane accident while covering the invasion of the Marshall Islands. This picture was made Jan. 17 as he prepared copy aboard the plane of Vice Adm A. W. Fitch, commander Aircraft, South Pacific. Clipper had personal acquaintances in Marion, where he served during the summer of 1920 covering Warren G. Harding's "front porch" campaign for the United Press. While here he lived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Eymon on Mt. Vernon avenue. (Associated Press Wirephoto).

By JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE ZIELKE
Associated Press Writers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 — We didn't know Raymond Clapper. But every day we read his column. In the Washington jungle where hatred, bias, prejudice and partisan thinking is the usual thick foliage his work was as a clear light.

We respected him in a number of ways. Even when we might feel differently from the things he said, we were sure he was calling his shots exactly and as truly as he saw them.

It was a wonderful thing to read Raymond Clapper day after day. He wrote and he fought for the things he thought were right. He was bitter against the people and things he thought were wrong.

But it was perhaps the greatest tribute to his memory that after word of his death reached Washington we asked all kinds of newspapermen what they thought of him and heard them say:

"He was a fine man. He was an honest man. He had no enemy in the newspaper business."

Column Nationally Famous

He made $100,000 a year. He had a wife and two children. He did for the Scripps-Howard Newspaper Alliance his daily column which was nationally famous.

Why then did he leave Washington for the South Pacific war? Why did he go up in the bomber that crashed him to his death in a lagoon in the Marshalls?

He could have stayed at home. He had seen what war is. He had covered part of the Mediterranean campaign. He had flown in a bomber on the first American pinpointing bombing of Rome.

Why risk his life once more in a bomber in the Marshalls? Maybe the column he wrote from San Francisco on New Year's day can explain some of it. He said then, just before his departure for the South Pacific:

"Some people in Washington feel that there is not sufficient awareness at home of how much our men are going (in the south Pacific) and in what a living hell they must sometimes do it. So somebody says why don't I go out and get a taste of it and so here I go, dragging these aging bones."

He was 57 and so he went. And he was killed, just as 15 other American correspondents had been killed or died abroad since the European war started.

Working at Their Jobs

Why did they die? For the same reason Raymond Clapper gave his life. They were trying to report the news.

They thought it was the honest thing to do—just as Raymond Clapper thought it was the honest thing to do to write his column as he sincerely thought it should be written—at first hand, telling the story as they saw it happen, close up, giving the feel of the thing, making it as true as words can make anything true for their countrymen back home the adventure called war and the sting and smell of death and what danger felt like and what it meant.

The men who go into the newspaper business are looking for experience close up and they want to taste it, as somebody told Clapper to taste it in the South Pacific.

All living, or much of it, becomes part of their experience and thus part of themselves, enriching them. Then they begin to learn that being enriched is selfish and lonely unless they can communicate some of it to others.

The war was something new and greater than any of the newspapermen who went to it had ever known or would know again.

They wanted to taste it. They wanted to tell what it was like. Clapper, like the others, tasted it. The taste was bitter for all of us.

Tribute Is Paid Clapper in Capital

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4—Gen. George C. Marshall and Undersecretary of War Robert Patterson paid tribute today to Raymond Clapper, newspaper columnist, who was killed in a plane crash in the Marshall island operations in the central Pacific.

The chief of staff said Clapper "had seen much of the war on many fronts where he displayed the courage and adventurous spirit of a true soldier. I lament his loss."

Patterson said "the nation has lost one of its valuable observers in the tragic death of Raymond Clapper." His "death in the course of a combat operation indicated his willingness to accept any hazard in order to pursue his search for truth."

Russia's Autonomous Republics

EXTENSION of the autonomous rights of Soviet republics to include foreign affairs and defense confronts other governments with a diplomatic problem, but it is doubtful if that is the only effect of the supreme soviet's momentous decision.

Another vital effect may prove to be the internal reorganization of the Soviet Union. While its component states already had autonomy, they were limited in its exercise. They were represented abroad by spokesmen for their collective interests. Their defense was a federal responsibility.

While the comparison is not apt, the result of extending the autonomy of the Soviet republics to foreign policy and defense, even under central control, would be something like giving the 48 sovereign states of the United States their own diplomatic staffs and separate armies.

The quick suspicion that Russia merely has made a surprise move to put other governments at a diplomatic disadvantage is no better founded on circumstantial evidence than the suspicion that Russia may have excellent internal reasons for increasing the autonomy of its member states. A nation covering a sixth of the earth's land area, lying in two continents, embraces political problems which are beyond the comprehension of observers who find it convenient to speak of so vast a country merely as Moscow, the Kremlin, or Premier Stalin.

The diplomatic consequence of the decision is, of course, to break down the territorial problems growing out of the war into matters lying between the republics immediately affected and other governments. Some of these republics have not been recognized by the United States, and until they are, this government's interest in settlements under their jurisdiction can not be expressed. Thus, the impression that Premier Stalin's government is managing to call the diplomatic turn is deepened, but in the meantime it would be hasty judgment to conclude that this is the only motive for the move.

Germany in Retreat

THE progressive deterioration of German military power in Russia has reached a point where Germany's own spokesmen are talking about it, calling it a major crisis. The official tone of Germany in retreat is vastly different from that of the arrogant nation which began its violent and apparently unstoppable expansion in Europe four years ago.

But Germany in retreat is still Germany. Its armies may be driven out of Russia, forced to retreat in Italy, held helpless on the invasion coast by a threat of action which they are powerless to return in kind. Its naval strength may be crippled and its air force overwhelmed, but until Germans inside Germany have accepted the fact of defeat they are not beaten. There is greater danger now than there has been at any time before of underestimating Germany's tenacious will to conquer—a will that was not destroyed in the other war by retreats, defeats and, ultimately, surrender and will not be destroyed in this one.

There is no reason to believe candor suddenly has become a virtue of the Hitler regime, or of the Prussian generals who now may be the real government of Germany. There will be no reason to believe Germany is defeated until Allied soldiers walk up and down in the streets of Berlin looking at what is left of that capital—and even then there will be no reason to believe Germany has relented from its faith in war as an instrument of national policy until it again has earned the right to be taken at its official word.

100 Times Around

AMONG many interesting figures released by army air forces training command—almost 2,300,000 officers and enlisted men, with 100,799 pilots—none invites attention more than the average of 25,000 hours in the air per fatal accident for student fliers.

On the assumption that each hour represents an average of 100 miles of distance (it represents more than that, no doubt, though most of it would be under ideal conditions) that is 100 times around the earth at the equator. The figure is meaningless, except as an indication of the relative safety of air travel.

Military students are subject to extraordinary risk, especially in advanced stages when they are handling heavy, fast planes. While no comparison is possible as between students learning to fly combat airplanes and young men learning to drive ox carts, ride bicycles, operate automobiles, navigate ships, or just walking and swimming, it seems plain enough that the airplane probably is the world's safest way of getting around from place to place. To be sure, there are many accidents and many fatalities, but also to be sure more human beings are traveling hundreds of times farther and faster than seemed possible only a generation ago.

News Behind the News

Marshall Islands Conquest Shortens Hawaiian-MacArthur Base Travel.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4—The careful, complete plan at the Marshall Islands is not designed to invade Tokyo, as commonly supposed.

That main Jap south Pacific stronghold is beyond our range (1,100 miles) of the new point of attack. We already had air fields closer to it from MacArthur's front (900 miles).

Nor was the move designed to seize bases from which invasion of the Jap mainland could be launched. Tokyo is still too far away.

The navy simply thought the Marshalls were necessary for two naval reasons. The islands lie directly on the shortest air-sea route from our Hawaiian base to the MacArthur front. Formerly, our convoys had to circle far south, wasting day and weeks.

Dominate Large Area

Further, with control of those islands goes domination of many more thousand square miles of ocean which can be maintained as ramparts of defense by our air and sea craft. Also, Wake Island will go with them, as the Japs cannot maintain that outpost when brought under the air range of Marshall's three or four air fields (original Jap attack on Wake was launched from the Marshalls).

Most exhilarating inner phase of the offensive, therefore, is the careful planning shown in its man-saving strategy (unlike the recent Gilbert experience). The Japs knew we were coming. The Marshals obviously were to be the second phase of the Gilberts operation.

The only disguise we attempted was to confuse the Japs by bombing operations against both Rabaul and the Marshalls so that they could not tell which attack would come first. Our planes hit the Marshalls 22 successive days before the invasion. Kwajalein was bombed 26 out of the 30 preceding days.

Ships Used Effectively

This time also, we corrected the mistake of the Gilberts and moved battleships up for a thorough, direct shelling of the Jap concrete pillboxes and big gun emplacements. This entailed risk of drawing Jap subs and destroyers into attack on our ships and disclosing our landing purpose far ahead of time, but it was based on the unfortunate experiences at Tarawa in November.

All details of that fight are now in. These show understandable cause of our great losses (1,020 killed and 2,557 wounded out of 15,000 in action) in the destruction of 3,000 Jap marines and 1,500 labor troops in the Tarawa garrison.

Our sea charts showed a 12-foot depth over the reefs for passage for our landing craft. But the first wave of troops was grounded 500 yards offshore. After wading through machine gun and artillery fire to narrow beachhead, this wave could not get reinforcements all day. (Artillery fire broke up a second wave).

Used Improvised Methods

Tanks and liquid fire were found of little use against the pillboxes. Land mines (bangalore torpedoes) shot from mortars were used as an improvised method with final success.

Every one of the 3,000 Jap marines was killed, and most of the 1,500 labor troops also. In accord with Jap military dementia, the last hopeless batch staged a hara-kiri charge on the Americans, preferring to die offensively.

All these lessons were corrected at the Marshalls, but do not expect a swift final conclusion. The Japs are relentless against surrender.

If you will note the dozens of islands in the Carolines (next batch beyond the Marshalls), an unknown number which must have been fortified as they have been in Jap possession many years, and consider the suicidal tactics of that war-demented race, you will have a better evaluation of our Marshalls success and the size of the task still ahead.

Information

In spite of wartime difficulties, many cities issue general annual reports to keep citizens informed of municipal activities, International City Managers Association reports. The association made a survey of more than 100 cities.

Dayton publishes its report in Readers Digest form, with articles by department heads, and Springfield, Mass., has issued for the first time a similar folder. Eight cities issued annual reports either for the first time or for the first time in several years. Ten New England cities have issued reports for 25 or more consecutive years.

Seventy-six cities reporting information included expenditures, number of employes, per cent of total expenditures to the city's budget, per capita cost, trends problems and accomplishments. Reports of 86 cities carried financial statistics and numerous cities carried civilian defense information; a popular feature this year was an honor roll of city employes in service. Post-war planning gained more prominence in this year's reports as several cities dealt with plans already formulated and brought out the need for careful planning in the near future.

A few cities reported using radio to inform cities of municipal services. Milwaukee presented a program outlining post-war plans, and East Cleveland and Pittsfield, Mass., sponsored civilian defense radio programs. Some cities used movies to depict public events and departmental activies.

The cities covered in the survey printed, mimeographed or otherwise duplicated their reports, spending from $5 to $3,050. The typical city spent $332, which provided one copy of a 46-page report to every eight persons.

Harmon: Japs' "Marked Man"

By Jack Stinnett.

WASHINGTON—I'm not partial to celebrities in uniform. I don't mean to discount their sincerity, earnestness, courage, or any of it. But I can't see any reason for blowing up a Clark Gable or a Robert Montgomery and ignoring the potential Butch O'Hares or five Sullivan brothers, whom nobody ever heard of before. And Clark and Bob, who know all about publicity, can't see any reason for it either. Both of them have said so.

All of which is by way of prelude to the fact that I sat in a session the other night with Lieut. Tom Harmon. There are probably plenty of folks who are saying that the former football star has a "flare" for publicity. Perhaps he has. He has had his share of it, what with being lost in the jungles of Brazil, missing for 32 days behind the Jap lines in China, and then even amusingly being reported 'missing' for several hours between Norfolk and Bolling Field, but he's a sophomore compared to some wearing uniforms. The point of it all is that no celebrity carries himself with more boyish modesty.

It wasn't Tom who told us that he got two Zeros before the was forced down in China. He talked mostly about how he would like to get back to the Tenth Air Force and how much those fellows out there hate the Japs, despise them as nobody probably ever could despise a Nazi.

Reason for Change

And when somebody wanted to know what then he was doing here, headed for the European theater, it was another Air Force officer who answered.

Tommy Harmon is just another lad who has been shot down behind the Jap lines, and thanks to Chinese guerrillas or other friendly natives operating underground has come out alive.

But to the Japs, such men are marked. Our Air Forces operating in the east learned long ago. Once the Japs get their hands on those men again, they'll take them over the torture route, even to death in an effort to find out who aided their escape and how. The Army (and Navy) Air Force isn't taking any chance like that with our pilots.

Once they have gone through the Harmon experience, they are shipped out immediately, not even allowed to make one more flight over enemy lines.

A Mother's Faith

Lieutenant Harmon has put back most of the 50 pounds he lost in those 32 days battling through the Jap lines. He wore a leather flying jacket that looked as if it had been three times through Notre Dame for a touchdown.

And the story he liked best to tell was about how 54 letters were waiting for him when he got back to his base after being "missing" those 32 days.

All of them were dated before he was reported missing, except one. The one exception was from his mother. Fifteen days after he had been reported missing, she wrote as if nothing had happened, not even mentioning the fact that two weeks before, she had been informed of his disappearance behind the enemy lines.

"She just knew I'd turn up somehow to read it," he explained. "She's the one that's got the courage in the Harmon family."

Delegates Apportioned To Party Conventions

Republicans List 1,059, Democrats 1,176.

HOW many delegates will go to the Republican national convention in June? How many to the Democratic national convention. How many will there be from Ohio, California, Idaho, the District of Columbia. How are delegates apportioned?

To satisfy inquiries we publish herewith a table of delegations, subject to correction if either party finds reason for revision.

The Republican convention will have 1,059 delegates, the Democratic convention 1,176. The Republican roll includes four delegates-at-large for each state, two additional delegates-at-large for each representative-at-large in congress from each state, three additional delegates - at - large from each state casting its electoral vote for the Republican nominee in the last presidential election or electing a Republican senator in the next succeeding election. Each congressional district is entitled to one delegate if it has cast 1,000 Republican votes in the preceding presidential or congressional election, two delegates if it has cast 10,000 Republican votes. Ohio will have six delegates-at-large and two from each of its 22 congressional districts—a total of 50—in the Republican convention.

The Democratic convention will have its usual state quotas of two delegates for each senator and representative in congress. In addition, each state that went Democratic in 1940 is entitled to two additional delegates-at-large. Ohio will have 50 delegates as its state quota, plus a bonus of two for being in the Democratic column in 1940.

Conventions of both parties include delegates representing the District of Columbia, Alaska and island territories.

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO.

It was Sunday, Feb. 4, 1934.

Marion's first raid against bootleggers under the new regulations for legal liquor was made at a cafe where police said they found several bottles of "bootleg liquor" concealed behind a baseboard in the kitchen.

Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Almendinger of Marysville, on a Sunday drive near Marion, drove their car hurriedly to the Central fire station when they discovered the floorboard was on fire. Firemen held the loss to $10.

Mrs. Edna McKeown Travis, 54, Marion county health nurse for 12 years and one of the first county nurses in Ohio, died in the City hospital following an illness of several months.

Funeral services were set for Tuesday for Louis F. Schuler, 58, for many years operator of Rainbow Gardens and an instructor of dancing in Marion, who had died the preceding day in General hospital at Mansfield.

Miss Esther Guthery, student at Northwestern University, was spending a vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Guthery of Delaware avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert F. Eibling and family of Columbus and Miss Cora Eibling of Iberia were dinner guests at the G. Eibling home on Bain avenue.

Miss Jeannette Cox, senior at Oberlin college, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cox of Forest street.

Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Emery of Bellefontaine avenue and Mr. and Mrs. Forest D. Laudenslager of west of Marion.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

It was Monday, Feb. 4, 1924.

Official activities in Washington came to a virtual standstill out of respect to the memory of Woodrow Wilson, who had died the preceding day.

A rooming house in Mansfield, filled with gas fumes, blew up, throwing most of the remains of the building into the street. Several of the 12 persons rooming there were taken to the hospital for treatment.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Mitchell of seven miles north of Marion on the Bucyrus road.

Mrs. W. F. Bull and Dr. Maud Bull of South State street spent Monday in Columbus.

Mrs. Charles D. Hayden of Centerburg was visiting her father, Dr. R. C. M. Lewis of South Main street.

Willis L. Warner of East Church street, of the Warner & Edwards Co. and Douglas Torrence of the ready-to-wear department of the store were on a buying trip in New York.

Miss Lauretta Almendinger entertained members of the Current Topic club at her home on West Church street.

M. C. O'Brien, C. W. Majors and Hoke Donathen were reelected directors of the Marion Building, Savings & Loan Co. at the annual meeting of stockholders. A. C. Edmondson was named president.

Break for Suckers

Canadians Try To Make T[illegible] Tougher for Saps Who [illegible] Race Tracks North of Border.

By DAMON RUNYON

THERE are two schools of thought on the question of protecting the sucker public, as you have perhaps heard, that he should never be given an even break under any circumstances. This is the more popular school.

My late friend contended you should take a sucker's breakfast money, because, being a sucker, he might become discouraged and devote his energy to mustering a bankroll. My old man argued that also a sucker had his uses, if only to keep his spirit and started hustling again.

I think the Incorporated Canadian Racing Association must be of this mind, I guess, as it has adopted a rule barring horses 10 years old or over from Ontario tracks in 1945 if they fail to win at least three races during 1944.

They have also barred maiden six-year-olds as of Jan. 1, 1945, a maiden in racing parlance being a horse that has not won a race. A six-year-old maiden would probably have been racing three years without winning, because most horses are started at two. You can readily see this absence of victory would be a great bore, even to the horse.

The idea of both rules is to protect the public. You see, a lot of customers do not know one end of a horse from the other, betting on horses just because they like the name or perhaps the odds. Thus, they are constantly risking their dough on equines that could not beat a fat man going uphill.

WHY owners will go along paying fees for entry and jockey fees and other expenses for horses of the type within the purview of the Canadian ruling is a mystery. Maybe it is on the basis of the hope that is said to be eternal in the human breast, though I imagine they may have some other motive.

In any event I am not disposed to criticize them any more than I am the owners of the run crippled horses that are able to win occasionally if patched up by devious methods from race to race. The practice of running the horses that never win is cruelty to suckers, but it is other is cruelty to animals. The S. P. C. A. might do well to investigate some of the horses running on race tracks.

The barring of the aged non-winners is a humane measure. At 10 years or more, a horse is approximately the age of a man in his 70's, and obviously the animal is not fitted for the training or the racing. It is true some horses past 10 have been highly successful, but they are the exceptions that prove the rule.

It is a pitiful spectacle, in my opinion, to see one of these equine antiques pounding around a race track trying to keep up with the field. I have heard horsemen say old racing horses love the excitement of racing, which may be true, but I would like to get the testimony of the horses before filing the statement as a fact.

I THINK the Canadians are very liberal in the age limit on the maidens. It could be cut. It would not hurt to knock a couple of years off the 10, either.

I know trainers who are of the opinion that horses should not be permitted to race after eight years of age, though the more merciful of horse handlers would be shocked by the very idea.

I think one of the greatest moves ever to protect the racing public from betting on worthless hides was made by Ben Lindheimer of Chicago when he tried to have horses that had not finished in the money in their last three starts barred from Arlington and Washington parks last season. I do not recall that his idea was generally approved, but it was the greatest idea for giving the racing sucker an even break ever conceived.

Calendars

By Truman Twill

One of our snoops came in today with a January page off this year's calendar. It is the kind that has an anniversary or holiday marked down for every day. Happy New Year on the first, Georgia admitted to the Union the second, Benjamin Franklin born on the 17th, Stonewall Jackson on the 21st, Daniel Webster debates Hayes on the 27th.

This particular operative was peeved because on the 29th, William McKinley's birthday, the calendar had Kansas being admitted to the Union, as though that mattered. This is a typical weakness of historic calendars and will be so long as someone has to decide what the important events are. If someone is going to stick his neck on a proposition like this, why not stick with birthdays and anniversaries at all? There are more practical things to know.

The first of January would be a logical time to give the customers a simple recipe for straightening the head after New Year's eve. On the second of January, it would be timely to remind how the New Year's resolutions are coming along. Sometime during the first week something should be said about getting the family budget prepared.

In wartime we can think of dumber things for the calendar people to do than include a simple menu of meals which can be thrown together in a hurry without depending on two pounds of beefsteak or half a pound of butter. There should be frequent reminders of that duty to vote on March 15. If taxes are going to stay as complicated as they are now, one whole month might be given over to explanations of tax laws.

Once every two months the calendar could reasonably say something about it being time again to put water in the battery of the family car. Early each November a date could be set aside for taking care of the antifreeze and there could be reminders about making appointments with the dentist.

Why, they've only begun to see the possibilities in calendars. There are a thousand items of information that everybody wants to know all the time and can't find. Such as who was it Dempsey knocked out Willard in at Toledo, what ballot was Landon nominated on in Maryland. How many inches are there in a mile, and what was the name of Ann Landers' first book?

If the calendar people ever decide to do the job right each new calendar will be the equivalent of 15 minutes a day. In the course of a few hundreds years this will be the best informed population on earth, with every inhabitant on his toes and spilling over with information.

So They Say—

Two years ago we were worried about getting too little too late. Today we are worried about surpluses of steel, [illegible] and army cutbacks.—WPB Chairman Nelson.

Perhaps it is time for some fresh thinking on this matter of war and peace. Instead of clinging to disarmament and unpreparedness let us try the opposite, full preparedness leading to a continuous plan.—Charles E. [illegible] WPB vice president.

MRS. EARL STANSBERY entertained members of Fortnightly Study club last night at the Manor House. Plans were made for the March program to be given Feb. 12, when Mrs. Lowell Cook will read a paper on the "Women of the Bible." This program will be broadcast over WMRN in lieu of the regular Women's Federated Club program.

In the program hour Tuesday Mrs. John Morgan read a paper on "Contributions to American Life by Famous Negroes," Mrs. James Isler gave a paper on "White House Kitchen," and Mrs. Basil Morgan reviewed "The Pulitzer Prize."

A nominating committee was appointed, consisting of Mrs. William Spath, Mrs. James Wesley and Mrs. M. F. Bishop. Other committees appointed were Mrs. Cook, Mrs. John Morgan and Mrs. Frank Scribner, program; Mrs. Basil Morgan, Mrs. Carl Haberman and Mrs. Leroy Foss, social; Mrs. James Rutson and Mrs. Bryson, membership; Mrs. Robert McCormick, welfare; Mrs. Wooley, defense; Mrs. Frank Judy, patronage; Mrs. McCormick, Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Spath, historian, and Mrs. Stansbery, conservation.

Mrs. H. F. Dalziver of 431 West Church street entertained Le Meres Study club Tuesday night. Mrs. Paul Drake read devotions after which Mrs. C. W. Minnick led a discussion. Mrs. Donald Corbin of Columbus was a guest.

Contests were won by Mrs. J. H. Fulk and Mrs. Minnick. Mrs. L. A. Cratty assisted the hostess. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Randolph Anthony of 481 Elgin court.

Miss Molly Johnston entertained members of Ohio Eta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority Wednesday night at her home on East Center street. Plans for a rummage sale in March were discussed. Mrs. Jack Danner was appointed chairman of the nominating committee with Mrs. John Artopoeus and Mrs. James Brown, Jr. serving with her. The program, presented by Mrs. Danner, was on "The Art of Dress" and was based on the book "Style Your Personality" by Renee Long. Refreshments were served, centering around a valentine theme.

Mr. and Mrs. John Jams entertained at their home, 324 Owens street, for Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Jams and two sons of Port Huron, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sanderson and Harley Downs of Marion at dinner Saturday.

The State Spring Conference was announced when the Alpha Chapter of Gradale Sorority met Wednesday night in the club rooms at the Y.M.C.A. It will be held in Columbus March 4 and 5. The constitution of the sorority club rooms was read by Mrs. Charm Nelson and Mrs. June Thiebaut read the amendments to the by-laws. Miss Virginia Koons reviewed the constitution of the sorority. Devotions were led by Mrs. Berwenger. A dues contest is being held with Mrs. Maxine Raab as head of one side and Miss Betty Thomas the other.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Johnson entertained the Pastime Pinochle club Wednesday evening at their home on Oak Grove avenue. Awards were won by Mrs. Myrtle Buchingham and Mr. Johnson, first, Mrs. Nell McIntire and Bert B. Duncan, second, and Mrs. Johnson and Roy Russel, third. The lone hand award was won by Mrs. Johnson and the penny box by Mrs. Russell.

The Junior Lecture-Recital club meeting scheduled for Feb. 7, has been postponed one week. The club will meet at the home of Miss Barbara Alspach on South Vine street Feb. 14.

Mrs. Irene Mosley was honored with a personal shower when Mrs. W. K. Solomon entertained 32 friends at her home on Edwards street, Wednesday evening. Lunch was served by Miss Darlene and Everett Thompson. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Claris Hickman and son, Mrs. Lize Hickman and Mrs. Annie Pennington from La-Rue.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fairchild of north of Marion entertained Tuesday evening in honor of Mrs. Fairchild's son, Petty Officer, Second Class, G. William Evans. Petty Officer Evans arrived home Jan. 21 on a 30-day leave after 20 months duty in the Southwest Pacific. The evening was spent playing euchre. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rinnert, Mr. and Mrs. [illegible], Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Graham, Mr. Richard Graham, Jr., Mrs. Ida Metz, Mrs. Harold Ewalt and daughter Penny, and William Evans. Mrs. Fairchild was assisted in serving by Mrs. R. C. Graham and Mrs. Rinnert.

Mrs. Robert Armstrong was hostess at a meeting of the Ekz-Workers club Wednesday afternoon. Awards in cards were won by Mrs. Cecil Covault, auction, Mrs. Russel Wilhelm, contract, and Mrs. Urban Zachman, euchre.

Mrs. Helen Morgan was elected president of the newly organized Jolly Dozen club at its first meeting at the home of Mrs. Celesta Clark at 441 North Greenwood street Monday evening. Mrs. Ruth Rice was elected secretary-treasurer and Mrs. Leona Osborne was elected reporter. Names for secret pals were drawn and anagrams were played with honors going to Mrs. Clark. The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Rice in one month.

Mrs. Charles Buente of 236 Gurley avenue was hostess when the Quest Club met last night. The program was on "The Literature of China" and Miss Zelma Howard read a paper on this subject. She also gave illustrations of the literature by reading Chinese poetry and essays.

Plans for a benefit bridge to be held in March were discussed at the meeting of Beta Chapter of Gradale Sorority last night in the club rooms. The Spring conference, which will be in March in Columbus, was also discussed. On Feb. 17 the chapter will have a potluck dinner. Miss Betty Canoe, Miss Helen Needles, Miss Joan Austin and Miss Joan Johnston will be hostesses.

TODAY WE WELCOME—

A daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Dixon of 634 Lee street.

A son born to Pvt. and Mrs. Harold J. Columber of 361 Clinton street.

NAME TEACHERS FOR LEADERSHIP SCHOOL

Weekly Class Sessions Set at Epworth Church.

Teachers have been chosen for classes to be held in conjunction with a forthcoming series of talks by well known speakers at Epworth Methodist church. Speakers will appear on four successive Thursday evenings beginning Feb. 24. Instructors for the classes are Rev. and Mrs. Lester S. Norris of Delaware and Rev. Donald Timmerman, pastor of Bellefontaine Methodist church.

Classes will be conducted for instruction of leaders in Sunday school work. Three separate classes will be held each Thursday night. Groups outlining children's, young people's and adult work will be led by the instructors.

Rev. Norris, a graduate of Oberlin university, is area director of Christian education for the Ohio conference of the Methodist church. He has held the position of director of Christian education at Epworth Methodist church in Toledo.

Mrs. Norris is also a graduate of Oberlin university. She has been associated with Rev. Norris in children's work and is a specialist in kindergarten work.

Rev. Donald Timmerman has been dean of the Lima-Toledo district young people's institute held at Lakeside, O., annually. While assistant pastor at King avenue Methodist church in Columbus he was in charge of young people's work. He was superintendent of the Zanesville district of the Methodist church.

The series of meetings sponsored by Epworth Methodist church under the name of the "Epworth Christian Education and Fellowship Hour" will be open to anyone wishing to attend, but are especially for members of the church interested in Sunday school work. Speakers will appear at 7:30 p. m. on Thursday evenings, and classes will be held from 8:45 to 9:30. Expenses will be paid from a free will offering to be taken at each meeting.

Couple Exchange Vows at Church in Bucyrus

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Feb. 4—Miss Joan Shumaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Shumaker and Petty Officer David J. Truka, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Truka, exchanged nuptial vows in a church wedding in Holy Trinity Catholic church Thursday morning. The double ring service was read by the Rev. Fr. Leo Reinartz.

Attendants of the bride were Mrs. John Truka, matron of honor, Miss Helen Rorick of Springfield and Miss Eleanor Vogt of Detroit, bridesmaids. John Truka served his brother as best man and Leonard White and Thomas Truka of Detroit escorted the guests to their pews.

The couple will have their residence temporarily in Jacksonville where Truka is stationed at the Naval air station.

Michigan, Dewey's Birthplace, Gives Him Top Place in Poll

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion.

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 4.—Republican voters in Michigan, the birthplace of Thomas E. Dewey, pick him by an overwhelming vote as their present favorite son for the Republican presidential nomination.

In fact, in a survey throughout the state the New York governor has a margin of better than 2-to-1 over his nearest rival, Wendell Willkie, in popularity as a G. O. P. candidate.

Michigan will send 41 delegates to the Republican nominating convention in June. Only five states will have larger delegations.

Republican sentiment in this politically important state was sounded by the Institute in a survey which submitted to voters a list of men most frequently mentioned as possible candidates for the presidency this year. Each voter was asked to name his present choice. Based on those who named a Republican, the vote for Michigan is shown below in the most recent survey and in a similar study conducted last September:

	Today	Sept.
Dewey	47%	46%
Willkie	19	21
MacArthur	16	16
Bricker	8	8
Stassen	7	3

Throughout the east central section comprising Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, Governor Dewey is also the leading choice at present among Republican voters, although his margin of advantage is not as large for the whole area as it is in Michigan.

Bricker Second in Area.

His chief rival in the east central section is John W. Bricker, the governor of Ohio.

The standings of the five men with the highest vote in the section are shown below:

East Central Section

	Today	Sept.
Dewey	35%	32%
Bricker	21	13
MacArthur	17	16
Willkie	15	20
Stassen	6	4

PURPLE HEART AWARD GIVEN MARION SOLDIER

Cpl. John Griffith Still in Army Hospital in Italy.

Cpl. John Griffith, brother of Earl Griffith of Edwards street and W. D. Griffith of Patterson street, has received the Purple Heart medal for wounds suffered while on active duty on the Italian front, according to word received by his family here. Cpl. Griffith is a patient in an army hospital in Italy where he is receiving treatment for a wound to his right shoulder received Dec. 18.

According to word received from Cpl. Griffith the wound has not healed properly and another operation will probably be necessary. He has already undergone surgical treatment for the wound.

He recently wrote to his family in Marion saying that he had put the medal in the mail to send it home for safe keeping until after the war.

Cpl. Griffith has been in service since May 28, 1942, and has been on overseas duty since March last year. Before his induction into the army Cpl. Griffith was a railroad employe in Marion. News of his being wounded was published in The Star Jan. 25 when his name appeared on a list of wounded released by The Associated Press.

Ashland Soldier, Nephew of Marion Woman, Named As Bougainville Hero

First word of the exploits of her nephew, "branded unquestionably as one of the outstanding heroes to emerge thus far from the fighting on Bougainville" reached a Marion woman this week.

The news came to Mrs. L. O. Gerwig of 857 Merkle avenue through a hometown newspaper which carried a special story of his deeds in the Bougainville campaign. The nephew, Sgt. Otis E. Hawkins, made his home for some time with the Gerwigs when they lived at Ashland, O. He was personally congratulated by his commanding general for his "example of fearless soldiering," "combined daring and gallantry," it was reported.

The action took place during the drive on Bougainville island when a patrol of which Sgt. Hawkins was a member started on a two-day mission through swamps and 20-foot jungle grass to discover the enemy's position and strength in an unknown area.

Account of Exploit.

The account of "one of the most thrilling adventures yet reported to have occurred on the last Solomon island outpost of the Japanese" follows in part:

"Suddenly a large stream loomed in the path . . . the patrol started to cross, Hawkins second in line, 20 yards apart. The crossing, even the harder because of the width of the stream and the rushing waters . . . at best would have been difficult. Observed by the enemy, the men were within a few yards of the opposite bank when the Nips opened a withering automatic fire. The lead man was seriously wounded.

"Hawkins . . . raising him to his shoulders . . . worked his way across the currents dodging behind boulders. Miraculously unscathed, he succeeded in carrying the wounded soldier to the friendly side of the stream and aided by another was able to lift him up the 15-foot embankment.

Volunteers To Go.

"Hawkins persuaded the patrol leader to allow him to take two other men . . . far enough back toward the base perimeter to regain radio contact and direct a party of reinforcements. Their compasses having been lost in the river episode, soon after dark they became lost . . . found themselves back at the stream where they had been ambushed. Using the moon, then a directing bearing, they hiked all night. Crawling all day, they arrived at a lagoon by night . . . had to discard their useless radio . . . in crossing lost their firearms. In the afternoon they came to the area which had been occupied by the base patrol only to find it vacated . . . heard to their rear what they thought was a concentrated mortar barrage. Reaching the beach they recognized a small fleet of landing craft . . . were seen and finally rescued by the fleet which had been searching the shoreline for them and shelling the ambush area. Bearded, harrowed and exhausted . . . they could not swallow for lack of water."

Not new to jungle fighting, Sgt. Hawkins entered the service in 1940, and has served 19 months in overseas areas including New Zealand, Fiji, Guadalcanal and New Georgia.

KAISER PROPOSES POST-WAR FUND

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON [illegible] A start toward a post-war program by Henry J. Kaiser, yesterday urged congress avail itself of a $6,000,000,000 to $10,000,000,000 fund to assist states and local communities in stepped-up construction projects such as highways and airports.

"The secret of full production employment, the West Coast shipbuilder said, is getting something done and not just talking about it.

Kaiser's plan, which would be outlined to the house public buildings and grounds committee would call for repayment of money advanced from the fund. The committee is studying post-war problems.

To Keep 'Em Flying

January aircraft production rolled off the assembly lines so fast nearly every factory met or exceeded its schedule, the aircraft production board reported. The emphasis was on big bombers and long-range fighters. The total number of planes made in January was 8,759, thirteen less than in December, but total airframe weight of the January output was up 5.4 per cent.

Presidents Must Beat Bucyrus Tonight To Stay in Loop Race

By CHARLES ELLIOTT

If Bucyrus High's Redmen cut down Marion Harding tonight in the scythe-like manner they did here in late December, Dewey Bohyer's Presidential cagers might just as well hid rad adieu to the North Central Ohio conference throne, which at present they have hopes of once again ascending.

This second battle of the season between the Prexies and Chuck Tschanen's Redmen will be played on the roomy Bucyrus floor—definitely a point in favor of the home team. Tentative starting time is 8 o'clock.

Since the Redmen overcame the Presidents, 34 to 29, the locals have settled down to play the brand of ball resembling that played by title-winning Harding teams of other N. C. O. campaigns. Dewey Bohyer's cohorts have taken four games in a row since the Bucyrus licking but this impressive second half spurt isn't expected to deter the Crawford countians one bit. Bucyrus has experienced a combination of bad breaks and spotty play since beating Marion and consequently has finished behind two N. C. O. opponents in the final tabulations. Ashland whipped the Redmen, 58 to 45, and Mt. Vernon surprised all and sundry by slipping Tschanen's proteges, 43 to 40, two weeks ago.

Harding has defeated both of these Bucyrus conquerors—having outlasted Ashland, 56 to 47, in N. C. O.'s upset of the year, and tripped Mt. Vernon twice by close margins, 36 to 30, and 30 to 24 last Friday at Thomas A. Edison gym.

Harding Has Edge

Taking all these facts into consideration, it wouldn't be assuming too much to say that Harding has played basketball considerably better than Bucyrus since the New Year made its debut. But it still must be remembered that Bucyrus will be playing on its own court, somewhat larger than the local junior high cigar box. The Bucyrus High auditorium, where tonight's game will be staged is able to seat upwards of 750 to 1,000 persons without much difficulty. The game is played on a stage while fans look on from the auditorium, an arrangement not unlike a theater.

Bucyrus came near being counted out of the N. C. O. flag chase when Mt. Vernon upset the Redmen by three points. However, the Red-jerseyed basketeers can move into a second place tie with Harding by downing the Prexies tonight. Harding has won five league games while losing one while Bucyrus has copped four positive decisions and lost two. The Redmen have a slightly better overall 1943-44 record than the Presidents, having captured seven wins and dropped three games against all competition. Harding has won six and lost three.

Bucyrus will boast a point record of 420 scored to 382 for the opposition going into tonight's game. Harding has fared approximately the same for the number of games it has played—having amassed 380 markers to the foes' 346.

Shuck High Scorer

Holder of the individual limelight for Bucyrus, this season, especially for N. C. O. games, is Jack Shuck, who has marked up 90 points in six loop games for an average of an even 15. Dan Benham, tall Redman forward, follows Shuck with 73 in the same number of tilts. Shuck and Benham are third and fourth respectively in N. C. O. scoring. Harding's highest ranking representative in the league basket-shooting lists is Forward Fritz Guy, who holds down tenth place by virtue of his 47 points in six games.

In other N. C. O. games on tap for tonight, Galion will visit Mt. Vernon, and Shelby's Whippets will play host to the Ashland Hilltoppers. Ashland shares first place with Marion and its opponent Shelby is deadlocked for fifth spot with Mt. Vernon. Each team has won one out of six starts. Galion is in fourth position with two victories and four defeats.

Former O. S. U. Athlete Heads Navy Grid Unit

By The Associated Press

IOWA CITY, Ia., Feb. 4—Lt. Harold B. Cunningham, former Ohio State university athlete and coach, succeeded Lt. Don Faurot today as head of the football department of the Navy pre-flight training school.

The base public relations office said Cunningham would head the football training program at the school, but would not necessarily be the 1944 football coach.

Cunningham participated in football, basketball and track at Ohio State and later played professional football with the Chicago Bears, Cleveland Rams and New York Giants. A native of Mount Vernon, O., he also played professional basketball and coached at Washington and Lee university.

Faurot was assigned to Monmouth (Ill.) college.

Hardin County Cage Coaches Plan Tourney

Special to The Star

KENTON, Feb. 4—Coaches of Hardin county's eight Class B schools today laid final details for the basketball tournament to be held Feb. 22, 24 and 25 in Kenton high school gymnasium, under supervision of Charles W. Secoy.

Roundhead will play Mt. Victory at 6:30 p. m. Feb. 22; Ridgeway and Dunkirk, 7:30 p. m.; Alger and McGuffey, 8:30 and Dola and Forest, 9:30 p. m.

The semi-finals will be Feb. 24, and the consolation and championship finals will be played Friday, Feb. 25.

St. Mary, Mt. Gilead Game Tonight at Edison School Gym

The lucky Irish of Marion St. Mary take the court for the fifteenth time in 1943-44 interscholastic play at Thomas Edison gym tonight when they tackle Mt. Gilead High's top-notch five for the second time this season.

Boo Bloss's Mt. Gileadites triumphed over the Irish of Lane McCabe in their first engagement this year, 39 to 36, on the Morrow county floor. That first encounter was one of those close affairs which are never decided until the fourth quarter-ending gun cracks.

Since their initial meeting, St. Mary and Mt. Gilead have met with different degrees of success. The local Parochials at the present count have won eight games, giving them a percentage substantially above the .500 mark. The McCraternen have been dropped on six occasions. On the other hand, Mt. Gilead has been a tough customer throughout the season, defeat being a rare occurence for the Bloss-tutored cagers.

However, Mt. Gilead did finish on the short end last Saturday night. Chesterville's Morrow county team turned the trick, much to the astonishment of basket followers in that section. One of the high points of the Mt. Gilead campaign came Friday night when the Blossmen ran over the once haughty Crestline Railroaders, 42 to 31. Crestline is one of the half dozen St. Mary conquerors this year, having topped the Irish, 43 to 34 in a December game on the Edison court here. At the time, Crestline coached by L. L. Hill was riding high and mighty with no defeats and it looked that nothing short of a championship team could decision the Railmen. It has developed since, however, that Crestline is far from invincible, having taken the count in several contests.

Leading the Mt. Gilead forces in their first Marion invasion of the year will be Lettermen Malcolm Boggs, Bill Neal, and Carl Davis, all three instrumental in their team's unexpected success. St. Mary will offer for individual competence, Captain Dan McGinnis, who leads all Irish scorers with 157 points in 14 games, an average of over 11 a tilt. Steve Norris, St. Mary forward, has tallied 81 in 13 games, and John Gray, has racked up 56 in 11.

Tonight's varsity game will start at 8:30. A preliminary beginning at 7:30 has been set between the Irish Junior Varsity and the Mt. Gilead reserves. The Irish Juniors were handed their third loss of the season Tuesday night by Marysville after having posted a six won-two lost record.

County Basketball Tournament To Open Feb. 17 on Two Floors

Marion county's annual high school basketball tournament, in which all 12 county league members will participate, will be launched Thursday, Feb. 17 at the gymnasiums of Claridon and Agosta High schools, Clayton Barden, superintendent of LaRue schools and chairman of the county athletic committee, announced today.

The tourney will be concluded Saturday night, Feb. 26, at Morral High school where the two surviving teams will contend for the tourney championship, sometimes cherished more by county schools than the regular season championship.

First round pairings for the tournament have not as yet been drawn up by the county athletic committee, Chairman Barden said, as members desire to postpone matching teams until the season's regular schedule is completed. The 1943-44 Marion county campaign is scheduled to come to a close a week from tonight.

The eight tourney elimination games will be played Thursday night, Feb. 17 through Saturday night, Feb. 19 on the Agosta and Claridon floors. Semi-final tussles will be held Friday night, Feb. 25 at Agosta and Claridon. The championship tilt will be played at 9 o'clock Feb. 26 at Morral and will be preceded by a consolation preliminary between the two teams that lose in the semi-finals.

* * *

LaRue and Morral will meet on the latter's court tonight in the feature Marion county league game on a five-contest card. These two squads are tied for second place with nine wins and a loss apiece. Each has been decisioned by the league-leading Claridon team. Other county games tonight are: Caledonia at Kirkpatrick, Waldo at Pleasant, Prospect at Claridon, and Martel at Meeker. Green Camp will play Agosta in a non-league game on the Green Camp floor.

Pleasant will be after its sixth straight win and eighth of the season in its tangle with Waldo. Merton Porter's team is in fourth place, a game behind LaRue and Morral.

Golf Clubs for Vets Given Good Response

CINCINNATI, Feb. 4—A consignment of 607 golf clubs, 68 golf bags, plus several hundred balls and tees, went forward to patients of a U. S. army hospital at Augusta, Ga., today, Cincinnatians' response to a campaign launched by Nixson Denton, sports editor of the Cincinnati Times-Star.

Scores of clubs—many of them fine matched sets—were given by the parents of battle casualties.

Football As a Sideline

PITTSBURGH — Dr. Daniel J. (Danny) Fortmann of the Chicago Bears says there may be something to the oft-heard remark about training being overdone.

Because of the war and his resident physician's job in a Pittsburgh hospital, Danny had to play pro football "on the side" in 1943 without practice and catching planes and trains in order to join his team a day before a game.

Yet Fortmann had one of his best seasons and was named again to The Associated Press all-professional team.

Surprisingly, the brainy 27-year-old guard says "I actually felt better during and after games than at any time in my career."

He quips that he almost had to be introduced to some of the Bears after the month-long layoff prior to the league championship game with the Washington Redskins.

Fortmann, a star with the Bears eight years, says he occasionally got in a drill with the Bears, and in spare moments in Pittsburgh jogged around Pitt Stadium.

Danny credits his gridiron knowledge and the Bears' system with being able to play in all of the 1943 games without regular practice. He says:

"After all, I had played seven years with the club and got to know the signals rather well."

Cobb Is Doubtful, but Hopes Baseball Won't Be Dropped

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 4 — Somewhat out of the limelight since the "Peach" was one the equivalent of spoken lightning in baseball and a terror to foes on or off the field, lives the mellow life of a country squire at suburban Atherton, Calif. Now. You'll remember him as Tyrus Raymond Cobb of Detroit Tigers fame, one of the immortals of the game.

The old time Georgia Peach who contributed amazing chapters to the record books during a stretch of 24 years now putters in the garden, hunts, fishes, plays golf and appraises his greatest love, baseball, from the outlook of a spectator.

Ty Cobb still is the hotspur but to a far lesser degree than when he was fighting with rival players, umpires, his own team mates and the fans. He'll play as hard today for a dollar stake on the links as when he was batting over .300 for 23 years and putting together the greatest number of major league records ever held by an individual.

What is baseball's future in these war times? Frankly, he is a bit worried but is optimistic to believe the sport will endure.

"Baseball is in a pretty tough position and the war requirements will continue to take its men," Cobb said. "It may become increasingly difficult to carry on but those in charge must and will see it through. Of that I am certain. The time to bear down is when the going is the hardest.

"Until the highest authority tells them to close down, the baseball men should take the attitude they have a mission to perform. I mean by that the obligation to furnish healthy entertainment for the country at large, which after all sums up in part as a boost for morale.

"People just can't hold their breath until the war is over. My personal belief is that the service men will want the sport continued in some fashion, short of an extreme national emergency."

Edison Wins, Now In League Top Spot

Edison Junior High school's quintet won a cage tilt from Central Junior high by a score of 29 to 16 last night on the Edison floor. Edison seized a slight lead over the other junior high teams as a result of last night's contest. Central won a reserve game 16 to 13. Central jayvee players were Russell, Mathias, Coss, Rea and Jividen. Edison reserves were Riddle, Gherman, Gwinnep, Johnson, McQuarry and Showalter.

A summary of the varsity game follows:

Central Res.—16	G.	F.	Edison Res.—13	G.	F.
R. Russell, f	1	1	Riddle, f	0	1
Mathias, f	1	0	Gherman, f	1	1
Coss, c	3	1	Gwinnep, c	0	1
Rea, g	2	0	Johnson, g	0	1
Jividen, g	0	0	McQuarry, g	1	0
			Showalter, g	0	0
Total	7	2	Total	5	3

Score by quarters:

Central	3	12	0	1—16
Edison	2	1	6	4—13

Officials: Frayer (Marion).

Central JV's scored only 4 points in 2nd half; a foul shot by Capt. Coss after game was over.

Plenty of Teeth Put in Ban On High School Grid Drill

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 4 — When Ohio's nine secret principles, by a vote of 278 to 94, eliminated spring football practice for the state's schoolboy teams, they put plenty of teeth into the action.

There is very little chance for "winseying" in any way on the new ruling, effective this year, should any of the coaches or schools be tempted. The edict voted on last fall by the football-playing schools, declares:

"There shall be no football practice between the Saturday after Thanksgiving and Aug. 20. Boys who violate this rule will be ineligible for the ensuing season, and schools will render themselves liable to suspension."

H. R. Townsend, Ohio scholastic athletic commissioner, said today:

"That ruling means just what it says, and in some ways goes much further than the wording would imply."

The commissioner then offered a list of answers to questions, setting forth just what the schools, coaches and boys may do. They included:

Q—Does teaching the technique of football in physical education or other classes made up entirely or partly of football boys constitute a violation.

A—Yes. There must be no instruction in football either indoors or out prior to Aug. 20.

Q—May a school maintain intramural football or have tag or touch football prior to Aug. 20.

A—No, these are violations.

Q—May a member of the association hold spring practice in the junior high school or grades.

A—No.

Q—Does requiring of all candidates for football to take track constitute a violation.

A—No, if other boys are permitted to participate in track.

Q—May a coach hold "skull practice" of any nature in the [illegible] room, after school or anywhere.

A—No.

Q—May the football [illegible] taken on outings and trips to the summer even if there is practice or conditioning.

A—No.

Q—May a coach [illegible] the football boys to a [illegible] camp after Aug. 20.

A—No. The practice must be held on the regular high school grounds or playing field. Summer football camps are not [illegible].

Q—When may the first high school football game be played.

A—Sept. 15, 1944.

Townsend said that only [illegible] before, about 1934, was spring practice banned by the [illegible] schools. It was returned in the following year, the commissioner said, because so many schools had become financially obligated because of building huge stadiums and needed good teams to draw large crowds to meet those obligations with gate receipts.

Opening move in the current ban of spring workouts was made by the Ohio High School Football Coaches association which [illegible] the action to give spring sports a better chance.

Knox Wins from Riley in Main Go at Armory

Buddy Knox took a final bout from Tex Riley in a wrestling show last night at the Armory. Knox won the first fall in 14 minutes with a crab hold. Riley brought Knox down to capture the second fall in seven minutes with a body press, but Knox replied by bringing Riley crashing in the third, in eight minutes with a crab hold.

Jackie Nichols and Whitey Walberg tusseled to a draw in a 45-minute semi-final. Walberg took the first fall in 25 minutes with a rolling arm lock. Nichols brought Walberg down in five minutes with a body press.

Knox and Riley were champions of a battle royal held to determine contestants for the final and semi-final bouts. Nichols and Walberg were next two highest, remaining in the ring 11 and 10 minutes respectively. Dandy Davis, who remained in the tussle for nine minutes, and Gil LaCrosse, who lasted for eight minutes were low men.

BOILERMAKERS MEET BUCKEYES TONIGHT

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 4—Purdue's adherents might well take a good look at that imposing 6-0 Western conference record sported today by their basketball Boilermakers, for it may not be that way tomorrow morning.

Coach Ward (Piggy) Lambert's boys, tied with Iowa and Northwestern for Big Ten leadership, meet highly geared Ohio State here tonight in the first of a two-game week-end series. The Buckeyes, with five conference triumphs in six starts, have not only the tallest but also the highest scoring outfit in the loop. They've tallied 374 points in league competition for an average of more than 62 a game.

The clash is the feature attraction of tonight's Big Ten program which also brings Northwestern (4-0) to Wisconsin (4-2) and Indiana (0-5) to Michigan (1-7).

Prospect St. Methodist Church Group Meets

Mrs. Goldie Diehl was in charge of a meeting of W.S.C.S. of the Prospect Street Methodist church Thursday afternoon in the church parlors. Mrs. Carolyn Shambaugh led devotions on "God's Truth Abideth Still" and a short prayer service for boys in service was led by Mrs. Noah Weaver. The study hour was conducted by Mrs. Carrie Kreis on the subject "Students in School." Following this "The Lost Chord," arranged for trumpet solo, was played by James Wanner with his mother, Mrs. William Wanner, at the piano. Mrs. Henry Maag announced the World Day of Prayer Feb. 25 in which members of the circle will take part. Hostesses for the meeting Thursday were Mrs. Nettie Hecker, Mrs. Elmer Dean, Mrs. Perry Rowland, and Miss Mae Tropf.

Canines Courageous

AP features

CANINE soldiers, fighting side by side with their uniformed buddies on the war fronts, are proving that a dog's life can be pretty risky. The four-footed fighters, who have made the leap from fireplace to firearms, are distinguishing themselves as heroes of World War II. Alert and aggressive, and trained to know friend from foe, they are carrying messages under fire, serving as scouts, sentries and patrols. Some have won official citations for unusual bravery in action. Here is an artist's conception of the actual ways in which dogs have established records for courage.

Chips got the Silver Star for capturing a machine-gun nest in Italy by lunging at the throats of Nazi gunners. He's a half-husky.

Nora, a German shepherd, carried cap of a Coast Guardsman who fainted to patrol station, saved his life.

Although wounded, Jack got through fire line with a message for stretcher bearers in Bougainville.

Rex's soft growl warned Marines in Solomons of Jap patrol approach. Japs were hurled back successfully.

THREE NAZI SHIPS SUNK IN ATLANTIC

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4—Three German blockade runners laden with war materials from Japanese-held Pacific ports have been sunk by American destroyers in the South Atlantic.

The Navy, announcing this today, said the holds of the enemy ships were filled to capacity with thousands of tons of rubber, tins, fats and strategic ores. Some of those materials, particularly hundreds of tons of baled rubber, were salvaged and many prisoners were taken.

Seeking to sneak through the American blockade, the three ships — the Burgenland, Rio Grand and Weserland — were sighted and sunk within a 48-hour period "early in January," the Navy reported.

The blockade runners were chased down by the cruiser Omaha, which already had one blockade runner to its credit; the destroyer Jouett, which bagged a German submarine in the Atlantic several months ago, and the destroyer Somers.

Dunn Funeral Set for 10 A. M. Saturday

The body of Pfc. Cyril W. Dunn arrived from Camp Hood, Tex., at midnight last night and was taken to the M. B. Gunder & Sons funeral home on West Center street. Accompanying the body was Tech. Sgt. Willard J. Armey of Camp Hood. Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday at the funeral home with Rev. Father William J. Spickerman, pastor of St. Mary Catholic church officiating. Burial will be made in St. Mary cemetery. Pfc. Dunn's death occurred Monday night at the station hospital at Camp Hood.

The Department of Interior reports that the value of minerals mined in 1943 was $8,030,000,000, or nearly 500 million dollars greater than in the previous year.

SIX INDICTED BY JURY AT LORAIN

By The Associated Press

ELYRIA, O., Feb. 4 — The Lorain county grand jury today indicted six Lorain residents, including a housewife, four postal employes and a discharged police officer on charges of assault to maim and blackmail, following a probe of an assault Jan. 13 on Cecil B. Dalton of Sheffield Lake.

Those indicted were Mrs. Russell King, 38, William J. Esser, 47, suspended foreman of letter carriers in the Lorain postoffice; letter carriers George J. Reubel, 46, Joseph S. Hazzard, 39, and James Bonatucci, 22, and Frank Elden, discharged from the Lorain police force Jan. 17 after 11 years service.

Conviction on the assault charge carries a possible prison sentence of three to 30 years, and the blackmail charge a maximum fine of $1,000 or one to five years imprisonment.

The six will be arraigned here Monday.

They were arrested three days after the reported attack, when Dalton signed affidavits charging the five men assaulted him and forced him to sign a statement admitting he annoyed Mrs. King. He denied knowing Mrs. King and said the case was one of mistaken identity.

CHURCH GROUPS MEET

Mrs. E. J. Hallandshead of South Main street was hostess for a meeting of Missionary groups Nos. 1 and 3, of Central Christian church Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Avis Clark, leader, presided. Letters were read from three young men in service for whom the members act as sponsors, and it was voted to send them Easter boxes. Plans were made to present a program at a meeting of the General society Feb. 10. Mrs. Ollie Schneider was in charge of the worship period and the program topic was "Living." Mrs. Eldred Johnston gave a talk on "Christian Living," and papers dealing with the home life and early training of the following men were presented: "Abraham Lincoln," by Mrs. Earl Harrod; "Thomas Edison," by Mrs. Harry Hafliek; "George Washington," by Mrs. Ella Boyer. Mrs. Jessie Ansley gave a paper on "Valentine Day." A valentine box was a feature of the social hour and for roll call each member read her valentine verse. Mrs. H. J. Hartsell was a guest. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Earl Harrod and the members will bring gifts for the Easter box for the service men.

INDUSTRIALIST FROM INDIA SPEAKS HERE

Country's War Contribution Outlined to Kiwanians.

H. G. Misra, industrialist at Cawnpore, India, and representative of the Indian government, spoke to members of Marion Kiwanis club yesterday noon.

Mr. Misra called attention to the speedy development of India as a world industrial power, mentioning the fact that India before the war was among the eight leading industrial countries of the world, a fact not generally recognized by industrialists of other lands.

He explained that up to 1939 India's manufactures had been harnessed to the needs of a peace-time economy in which it was the world's largest producer or held a monopoly on such products as jute and mica.

In 1939, Mr. Misra related, three prime points became evident: India must be a supply base for the middle East, India must be a springboard for allied counter-attacks if the Japs should strike in that direction, the country must become self-sufficient in supplying munitions to the armed forces of the Allies which would need to be based in India.

Aided in North Africa

As a result of India's strides in munitions production the country was able to supply substantial quantities of supplies for the North African front.

Mr. Misra pointed out that six million Indians are engaged in manufacturing war articles. He cited various war needs of the Allies which are being met by the manufactures of these people.

In conclusion he emphasized that India's vast strides in manufacturing, which are now producing for the war, must not be ignored in the future of India as a nation. He said India must not emerge from the war ridden by political strife, and that the potentialities of Indian manufacture must not be dropped by Britain and America.

"Never before has it been possible to link the resources and the people of India to produce something of benefit to India," Mr. Misra pointed out.

Bond Show Tickets Sold

Tickets were sold for the war bond show to be held Monday night at the Palace theater, Leonard Young is general chairman of ticket sales for the Kiwanis club.

Arrangements were made for a delegation of Marion Kiwanians to attend a charter night party to be held Wednesday, Feb. 9 by the newly organized Mt. Vernon Kiwanis club.

New members introduced were James A. Humble, claim agent for the Erie railroad in Marion, Al Hamburg, manager of Lord's Jewelery store and Flight Lt. V. H. Collins of the RAF, stationed at the Army Air forces depot at the Scioto Ordnance plant.

Guests were Floyd E. Stinson of Cleveland, C. M. James of Kansas City, Mo., Frank L. Barnes and Glen Cross of Columbus, Flight Lt. W. A. Hutton of the RAF, who is stationed at the Army Air Forces depot here, Gerald Baker, E. E. Holt, Lew Morch and Robert Morrison of Marion.

SUCCEEDS FAUROT

NAVY BOMBERS HIT PARAMUSHIRO BASE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4—Flying out from the Aleutian islands, two Navy bombers pounded the big Japanese naval base at Paramushiro in the North Pacific Kuriles, the Navy announced today.

The raid on the enemy's largest base in the North Pacific was the fourth carried out since late in December.

Results of the bombing were not observed, possibly due to heavy weather conditions.

The Navy reported that no enemy planes were encountered by the two bombing craft and that both planes returned safely to base.

The attack was aimed at the southeastern coast of Paramushiro just south of the Russian Kamchatka peninsula and the northernmost of the chain of islands in which the Japanese homeland is located.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

AS NOEL uttered his low-voiced warning, I realized that in my recognition of Marion, and my excitement over the scene between Lillian and one of the gangsters holding her daughter, I had forgotten all about Stephen Redfield and the terror which had seized me at the sight of the erstwhile leading man of my play, standing inside the window of the restaurant.

"Milner?" I asked bewilderedly. "Do you mean that Milner is here, too?"

Conspires With Redfield

"Yes," Noel said, and his voice betrayed his excitement. "He and Redfield are sitting in one of those booths that run down this side of the room. You can't see him from your chair, but I can from mine, and they've had their heads together ever since we took our places at his table.

"They've been watching us especially, he went on, "but I didn't think much of that, because we are a bizarre looking crowd. But I think now they're cooking up something. What do you suppose it is, Aunt Madge?"

"I haven't the slightest idea," I said worriedly. "But I do know that I would give a good deal if Stephen Redfield had not come down here today. Milner doesn't matter so much."

Redfield Suspicious

"How d you figure that out? Noel asked deferentially, but with a question in his voice that I knew he wished answered. "Isn't Milner the brains of this concern, and Redfield simply an errand boy?"

I do not think he realized how great was the loathing and contempt his voice expressed as he referred to the man whose admiration for Mary had so upset her young husband.

I saw Mary shoot an anxious look at him, and knew that she was afraid, if Redfield did start making any trouble, Noel would not be able to control his temper.

"That is exactly his status," I answered, "but it so happens that Milner knows nothing of makeup while Redfield has a vast and accurate knowledge of it."

"I get you," Noel said slowly, "You think Redfield may have recognized all of us?"

"Except Carolyn," I said. "He does not know her. But I am very much afraid he has found out who we are, if, as you say, he has been talking with Milner, and looking at us."

"What will it mean to the plans?" Ronald asked, with sudden terror in his eyes.

Struggle Soon

"That I cannot tell," I told him. "But the most it can mean is that our struggle will come before we had planned it. If Milner has recognized us, he undoubtedly will guess why so many of us are disguised.

"His next move," I went on, "undoubtedly will be to try to spirit Marion away, not by the front entrance, he will reduce that it is guarded, but from the side entrance or even the kitchen. This whole place is honeycombed with members of the gang. So we must be on the alert if Marion and those women go away from the table toward the powder room."

"What can we do?" Ronald asked anxiously.

"You can do nothing, except watch out for Adams, who will be here at any minute. If Marion does leave the table, you will tell Adams that she has gone, and that Mary and I are going after her."

"Mary?" Noel said hoarsely. "No!"

But Mary struck in with decision.

"Yes," she said spiritedly. "You know you'd ne ashamed of me. I didn't have a share in this. Besides, Auntie Madge is going, and I certainly can go where she does."

"But what about me?" Carolyn asked, and my opinion of her rose several points. "I want to help."

"I'm sorry, dear," I told her, "but the only way you can help is to stay here. Those men would dearly love to get hold of you, you know. You must stay here with Ronald and Noel."

Noel lowered his voice to a tense whisper.

"Hold everything," he said. "Milner is coming this way."

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Headaches Classified

"Speaking of dyspepsia, as we were the other day," said the seer of Rosedale, Dr. Antian Gibbs, "I always sort of classify headache and dyspepsia together.

"For one thing they both lead to confused thinking. Doctors are as likely to get mixed up on them as patients. 'I have known, in my time, four and twenty kinds of headaches in my time—neuralgia, pelvic, bilious, gastric, intestinal absorption, uric acid and some of them are still mentioned but mostly they have gone their way.

"The occasional, or acute, headache is not usually hard to figure out. Any oncoming fever or influenza, or stopped nose, or spell of overwork will bring it on. The hangover headache should be an awful lesson, but too often it isn't. The young occasional drunk has the hangover headache. The old, regular boozer doesn't have a headache—he feels bad all over, every morning—and ascribes it to the whole world. That hangover headache is Nature's warning to the young drunk.

"The acute headache is easy enough to cure. Treat the cause, or go to bed, or take that good old forgotten, reliable—5 grains of acetanilid. But don't take it daily or you'll turn blue, like that ornament to the circuit bench, who was once a patient of mine.

"The chronic headaches, the everyday headaches—in the sense that the doctors see them every day—have been ascribed to everything on earth. But my observations teach me that they can be reduced to four kinds:

"Eye strain, the people who need glasses, or, if they have glasses, properly fitting glasses. You can spot 'em because they are all right in the morning, but in the evening after using their eyes all day the head aches.

"You can spot the high blood pressure headache, too, because it comes on in middle age.

"The other two kinds are worry headaches and migraine.

"Worry headaches, or nervous headaches, are a good deal like the dyspeptics. I use worry in a broad, generic sense—people for whom the world is too much, the maladusted, the grouches, and, especially, the idle. Dyspeptics belong to the same classes.

"Some people are weak in the stomach and some are weak in the head. When the world doesn't suit 'em that's when they ache.

"Medicine won't do the worry headaches any good—just forms a habit. They need psychology. Diversion is a splendid remedy for them. Sometimes it has to be drastic. I know a woman who found when her husband died that instead of being rich he left a lot of debts and a shaky business. She had to pitch in and get the business back on its feet, and she did a good job. And it cured her lifelong headaches.

"Migraine, or sick headache, is real enough. It comes on periodically. The victim usually knows ahead of time when one of "my" headaches is coming on. That's one way of spotting it—they own it; it is "my" headaches. It is called sick headache because there are often stomach-symptoms too—lack of appetite, nausea, or vomiting. Sometimes the stomach symptoms show up without the headache. Then they may be called "bilious attacks." They ought to be called abdominal migraine.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

G. F.—How do you keep false teeth in?

Answer—Get a plate that fits.

M. E.—How important is it to keep on a diet for diabetes? Should you stick to diet only or must every diabetic use insulin?

Answer—It depends on how severe the diabetes is. I should say that 90 per cent of all diabetics can get along on diet alone. But if you can't get enough nourishment through diet, use insulin so you can eat more. But diet is still the basis of diabetic treatment. How important—it depends on whether you think life or death is important.

Most bismuth used in the U. S. is obtained as a by-product from the smelting of gold, silver, lead and copper.

The Stars Say—

For Saturday, Feb. 5

DESPITE SOME setbacks, destined to test the stamina of your will, tendencies of frustration, weariness and self-centered attack upon such basic objectives should be maintained. Bold strokes of new ways and means in which the exercise of substantial assets and capital may be realized upon, social customs or professional associations may be favorable factors for furthering cherished desires. Warmth, affection, romantic fervencies may assist momentous and happy developments. Be tactful and aware.

Those whose birthday it is should continue to concentrate their talents, creative abilities as well as personal or social assets on a closer endeavor to attain their most cherished hopes and wishes. This may be in the line of financial, business, professional or social ambitions with personal prestige and popularity an element of reaching high goals. Originality, initiative and romantic qualities should be successfully applied to unorthodox projects.

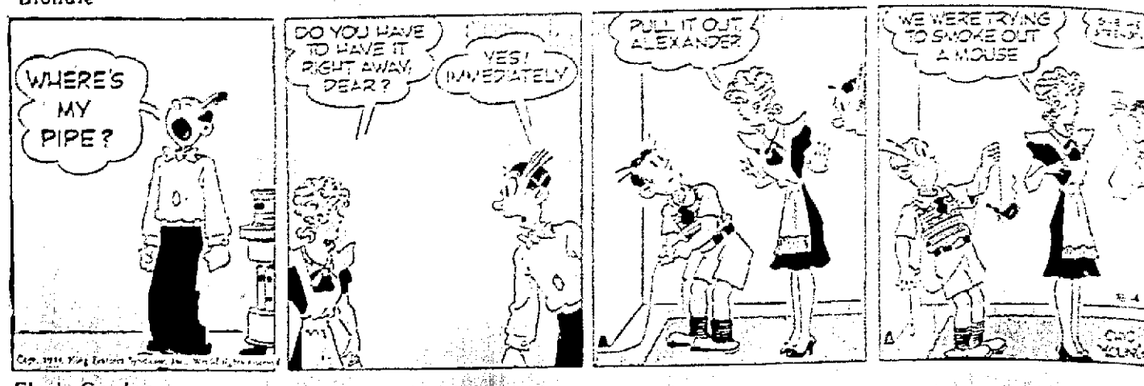
Blondie By Chic Young



WHERE'S MY PIPE?
DO YOU HAVE TO HAVE IT RIGHT AWAY, DEAR?
YES! IMMEDIATELY
PULL IT OUT, ALEXANDER
WE WERE TRYING TO SMOKE OUT A MOUSE

Flash Gordon

YOU STAY HERE AND GUARD THE DOOR, TIGRA! WHILE WE EXPLORE THE PALACE. THIS IS AS SAFE A POST AS ANY, DEAR
NO, NO, DOROM-- DON'T GO INTO THIS HORRIBLE PLACE! I HAVE A FEELING SOMETHING IS GOING TO HAPPEN!
WHY, TIGRA, THIS ISN'T LIKE YOU TO BE NERVOUS. I'VE GOT TO SEARCH THIS PLACE. MY FATHER MAY BE IMPRISONED ONLY A ROOM OR TWO AWAY FROM HERE. WOULD YOU RATHER COME WITH US AND LET DALE GUARD THE DOOR?
NO, GO ON. DON'T MIND ME. BEING SELFISH. I'M STAYING HERE!
I GUESS I JUST DON'T UNDERSTAND WOMEN
AND RIGHT NOW WE DON'T HAVE TIME ENOUGH TO LEARN. WE MAY HAVE A FIGHT ON OUR HANDS ANY MINUTE.

Tim Tyler By Lyman Young

A SANDBAG— TOSSED AT US FROM THE FLIES OVERHEAD—
LOOK!—IT BURST OPEN! SOMETHING'S STICKING OUT OF THAT SAND—
HEY! THIS THING IS TICKING!
A TIME-BOMB! AND WE'RE TRAPPED INSIDE THIS HAUNTED THEATRE WITH EVERY EXIT LOCKED! HAND OVER THAT THING!
BOOM

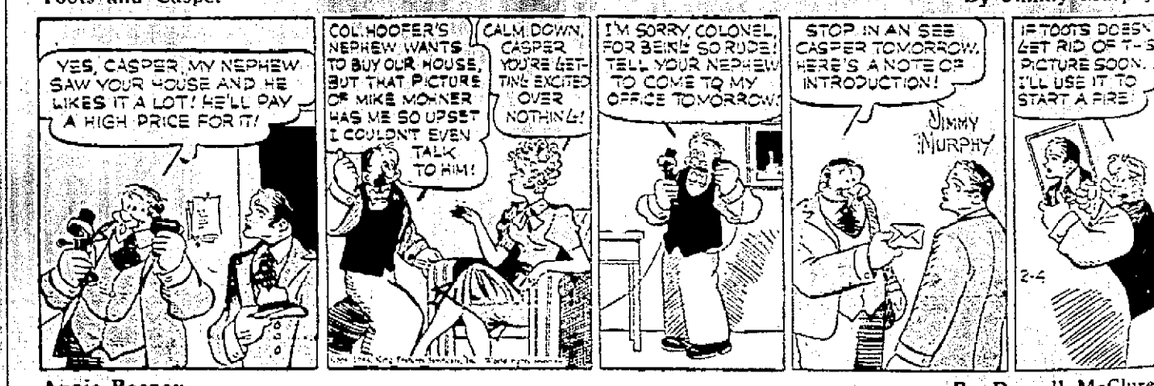
Toots and Casper By Jimmy Murphy

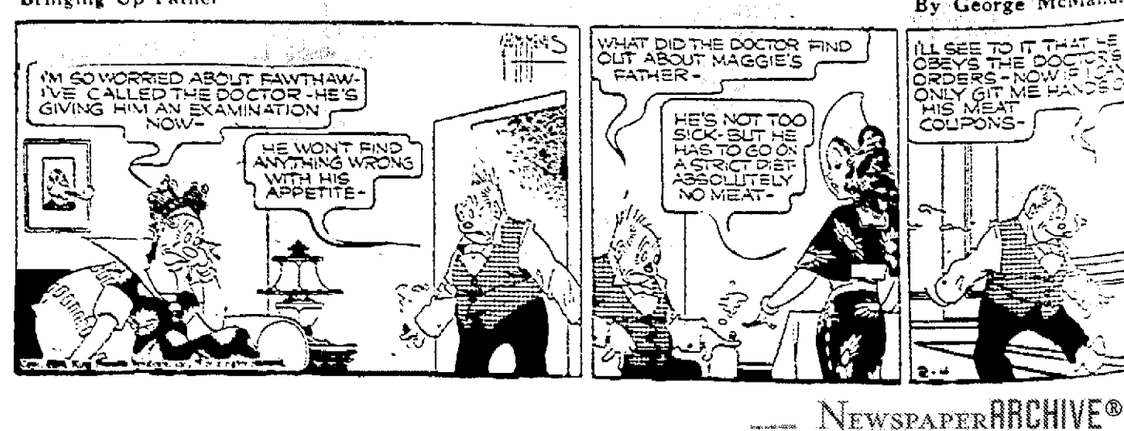


YES, CASPER, MY NEPHEW SAW YOUR HOUSE AND HE LIKES IT A LOT! HE'LL PAY A HIGH PRICE FOR IT!
COL. HOOFER'S NEPHEW WANTS TO BUY OUR HOUSE, BUT THAT PICTURE OF MIKE MONNER HAS ME SO UPSET I COULDN'T EVEN TALK TO HIM!
CALM DOWN, CASPER YOU'RE GETTING EXCITED OVER NOTHING!
I'M SORRY COLONEL, FOR BEING SO RUDE! TELL YOUR NEPHEW TO COME TO MY OFFICE TOMORROW!
STOP IN AN SEE CASPER TOMORROW. HERE'S A NOTE OF INTRODUCTION!
JIMMY MURPHY
IF TOOTS DOESN GET RID OF THIS PICTURE SOON, I'LL USE IT TO START A FIRE!

Annie Rooney By Darrell McClure

GEE, ZERO, I GOT THE WIM-WAMS SOMETHING TERRIBLE- I USED TO THINK GETTIN' LOTS AN' LOTS O' MONEY FOR WORKIN' IN A CIRCUS WAS SWELL—
BUT I DON'T LIKE TO HAVE DETECTIVES GUARDIN' US ALL THE TIME TO KEEP SOME JEALOUS, WICKED PERSON FROM KILLIN' YOU—
I'M SCARED ALL THE TIME- IT'S NO FUN TO BE A CIRCUS STAR, IF IT MAKES FOLKS SO MAD THEY WANNA KILL YOU-
I USED TO THINK IF YOU HAD MONEY, YOU'D BE TERRIBLE HAPPY ALL DAY LONG- BU NOW I KNOW RICH FOLKS HAVE TROUBLE JUST THE SAME AS POOR FOLKS.

Bringing Up Father By George McManus



I'M SO WORRIED ABOUT FAWTHAW- I'VE CALLED THE DOCTOR - HE'S GIVING HIM AN EXAMINATION NOW-
HE WON'T FIND ANYTHING WRONG WITH HIS APPETITE-
WHAT DID THE DOCTOR FIND OUT ABOUT MAGGIE'S FATHER-
HE'S NOT TOO SICK- BUT HE HAS TO GO ON A STRICT DIET ABSOLUTELY NO MEAT-
I'LL SEE TO IT THAT HE OBEYS THE DOCTOR'S ORDERS - NOW IF I CAN ONLY GIT ME HANDS ON HIS MEAT COUPONS-
